

A Flaming Protest to Japan

Two hundred boxes and cartons of Japanese goods, voluntarily removed from the shelves at 109 East Liverpool, O., stores and piled on a hilltop, as shown in top photo, were set ablaze, below, to mark the boycott against Japanese goods being instituted by the American Federation of Labor. President Green addressed the Brotherhood of Operative Potters, leaders in the boycott move, in an East Liverpool meeting.

K. C. FORD PLANT TO CONTINUE SCHEDULE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 21.—(UP)—The Ford assembly plant will continue to operate through the holiday season on regular schedule, despite a shut-down at the River Rouge production plant in Detroit and a strike by United Automobile Workers here, H. C. Doss, manager, said today.

"We are putting out 600 cars a day through the assembly line and we are going to continue to work as materials arrive," he said.

"There are now 1100 men at work, but production necessarily is a little slow because we have many men who are not yet accustomed to this type of work."

Doss said charges that the Ford plant was discriminating against former workers who now are on strike, by hiring new help were "grossly unfair."

CAROL'S OPPONENTS GAIN IN ELECTIONS

BUCHAREST, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Iron Guardists, who are listed as Nazis and bitterly oppose King Carol's Association with Mme. Magda Lupescu, gains in Roumania's parliamentary elections, incomplete returns indicated today.

Premier George Tatarascu's National Liberals were leading in returns, though it appeared that Tatarascu himself might be defeated. But whereas it was taken for granted the peasant party would run second, the Iron Guard party threatened it for hours.

The bitterness of the election was attested by the killing of four persons and the wounding of many in political disorders yesterday.

17-YEAR-OLD BOY IS SENTENCED TO LIFE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—(UP)—While most boys his age were looking forward to Christmas vacations from high school, Nick Megugorac, 17, was held in jail today under life sentence for murder.

Superior Judge Dudley Valentine, who sentenced him yesterday, was reported to be ill and too badly broken up by the case to talk about it.

The judge presided over domestic relation court for years, disposing of the cases of minors and he took a deep interest in Nick's fate. He said of the verdict against the boy: "Even I was surprised."

The boy was convicted of slaying a service station man during a holdup. He was the youngest murderer convicted here in 10 years.

U. S. TO ACT IN OLD INSURANCE CO. CASE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 21.—(UP)—The government prepared to place the case of the "old" Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company before a federal grand jury today, and ask mail fraud indictments.

Assistant United States Attorney Daniel E. McGrath announced he would give the grand jury today the findings of a six months investigation into the big California insurance concern.

McGrath said he would seek mail fraud indictments against "persons connected with administration of affairs of the old Pacific Mutual company."

The case was brought here from Los Angeles, he said, because many California judges and grand jurors hold Pacific Mutual policies and therefore are "really disqualified."

The body of the general, "master mind" of the German forces in the world war, was taken across the street to the headquarters today from the hospital in which he died yesterday.

Elaborate decorations which Ludendorff had received were put on four cushions in front of the coffin. Frau Ludendorff then took her seat beside the coffin as officers with drawn swords mounted guard over it.

FDR SOUNDS PEACE POLICY

U.S. Deficit To Exceed Budget Estimate

FDR BALKED IN DEMANDS FOR ECONOMY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Administration leaders jammed President Roosevelt's housing program through the Senate today, dumped overboard all hope of final action on any major legislation and took a short-cut to adjournment before nightfall.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Another budget revision, to raise the deficit estimate for this fiscal year beyond the $950,000,000 forecast two months ago by President Roosevelt, was foreseen today.

Mr. Roosevelt hoped last January to obtain a practical balance of the budget in this fiscal year. By April 20 Mr. Roosevelt informed Congress that the deficit probably would be $418,000,000.

The current fiscal year had not begun at that time and the President asked Congress to "join me in a determined effort" to avoid the expected deficiency of $418,000,000. In mid-October Mr. Roosevelt submitted a further revision of his budget and raised

$32,000 Paid In Dividends By S.A. Firms

Approximately $32,000 has been turned into Santa Ana trade channels this week by two local financial houses. This golden stream was released through the Federal Finance company in a 4 per cent dividend paid holders of common stock and a dividend paid stockholders in the Commercial National Bank and payment of semi-annual interest on all savings accounts in the bank.

The Federal Finance company payment approximated $20,000 and the total payment by the Commercial National Bank was approximately $12,000.

Payment of dividend by the bank represented 4 per cent on capital stock and is the third time directors of the bank have declared a dividend since the bank was organized in 1928. The first dividend was paid in December, 1935, and the second last year.

CONNERY RAPS MAE WEST SKIT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Rep. Lawrence Connery, D., Mass., said today he has as yet received no reply to his letter to Chairman Frank R. McNinch of the federal communications commission complaining against a radio "Adam and Eve" broadcast Dec. 12 in which Mae West took part. Both the radio company and the sponsor of the program have made public apology for the risqué nature of the skit.

Connery's letter, which he inserted in the congressional record, said in part:

"While it is common knowledge in the congress of the United States that the radio lobbyists maintained at tremendous expense by the licensees of your commission, have all but run the commission, it seems to me that when your commission permits the ravishing of the American home by pouring into the ears of millions of decent, God-fearing, law-abiding American people a program so indecent that it violates the sensibilities of even those who are familiar with the burlesque of historical events, I think it time that your commission should either function in the interests of the American people or admit your incompetence and permit the President of the United States to place men on your commission who will function in the interest of and for the benefit of the American people rather than the satellites acting for the additional enrichment of a privileged few."

UTILITY VOTERS TURN DOWN CIO

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Employees of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, one of the nation's largest utilities, rejected the CIO as their bargaining agency, results of a 10-day labor board election showed today. It was one of the Pacific coast's major tests of CIO strength.

The CIO immediately protested the vote by filing charges of "coercion," asserting that employees had been coerced to vote for the independent union that won the election 3550 to 2254. CIO leaders characterized the union as a company organization.

Largest N. L. R. B. Election

The election, affecting all the company's outside workers, was the largest ever conducted in California by the NLRB.

Mrs. Alice Rossetter, regional NLRB director, said she would investigate the CIO complaint.

Office workers were exempted from the election.

The NLRB ordered the election last October after it ruled against the contention of the company that inasmuch as it had no interstate operations, it was exempt from federal jurisdiction of the Wagner act.

The two unions involved in the election challenged 932 votes. Mrs. Rossetter wired to Washington asking instructions on whether these votes should be counted. One hundred and twenty-six employees wanted neither union to represent them.

Airports To Get Radio Equipment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—The Bureau of Air Commerce today awarded a contract for $216,500 of radio equipment to Westinghouse Electric company. The equipment will be placed at 50 airports throughout the country.

The order is part of a $7,000,000 program to modernize and extend radio ground facilities for commercial air lines.

Replacing obsolete equipment, the new apparatus will provide radio range and radio communication transmission at stations not now equipped with this type of service.

Countess Barbara Arrives In Paris

PARIS, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow arrived in Paris today for a stay of two weeks. Then she will take in the winter sports at St. Moritz and later go to India with her husband.

She insisted that her renunciation of American citizenship for which she made a hurried trip to New York, was not prompted by sentimental family reasons or lack of patriotism, but was motivated by the management of her affairs. She denied she sought to avoid American taxes.

DAMAGE SLIGHT AS DESERT WINDS DIE

Orange county's first severe wind storm for the year that started Sunday night and ended last night made a last gesture yesterday and did slight damage in the Newport-Balboa district.

The city-owned dredge was torn from its anchorage north of Lido Isle and washed ashore where it remained until a city crew refloated it. The large illuminated Christmas star, located at the Sea Shore colony broke from its fastenings and was rescued before it was damaged. Outside Yule decorations were slightly damaged and the 29-30 club shrine at the entrance of Newport Pier was damaged.

No damage, however, was done to boats anchored in the harbor due to the efforts of Harbormaster Thomas Bouchee and his assistants who had all boats securely moored before the wind started.

Commercial fishing was halted and all fishing boats held in the harbor until after the storm.

TRANSFER OF NAVY SHIPS IS MYSTERY

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Dec. 21.—(UP)—Nine destroyers lay at anchor off the Pacific fleet base today after a quick run from San Diego under secret orders, Navy officials replied with "no information" to all inquiries about the sudden transfer that required an emergency roundup of crews ashore for the Christmas holidays.

One suggestion was that it was a preliminary to a destroyer transfer to the Hawaiian Islands. Another was that the navy was testing the speed with which its units can raise anchor and steam away.

The warships comprised two divisions of the destroyer flotilla based at San Diego. They are the Goff, Reuben James, Fox, Brooks, Barry, Gilder, Childs, Williamson and Flagship Hopkins. All are old, of World war vintage.

TED HEALY, NOTED COMEDIAN, CALLED

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio announced today that Ted Healy, one of the most prominent movie comedians in Hollywood, died suddenly at his home.

The studio announcement said that details were lacking but it was believed Healy suffered a stroke.

Two MGM executives left immediately for Healy's home. Several days ago Healy's wife became the mother of a son.

Healy, who was prominent in vaudeville before he entered pictures, rose to fame with his act which included "Healy's Three Stooges."

COUNTY'S BEAN GROWERS GET $50,000 CHRISTMAS PRESENT

More than $50,000 in cash was turned into the Christmas trade channels today when the California Lima Bean Growers association made the final payment on the 1936 lima bean crop to growers in Orange county.

The payment today represented the final 39 cents per hundred for the crop bringing the total payment to $6.92 for the year.

The checks were received yesterday by the Greenville, Smeltzer, Garden Grove and San Joaquin Lima Bean Growers associations, all of Orange county. Checks to the individual growers were rushed out by the four associations today in order that the money would be available during the Christmas season.

First payment on the 1937 lima bean crop was made about a month ago by the state association and amounted to more than $600,000. Growers today stated they did not know when the next payment on this year's crop would be available but believed that it would be forthcoming shortly after the first of the new year.

HUNGRY FAMILIES IN APPEAL TO SALVATION ARMY FOR AID

Six hungry mouths to feed is the problem faced by a 15-year-old "mother" in Santa Ana, according to the investigations of a Salvation Army "lassie" who was checking the application of the family for a Salvation Army Christmas basket.

According to Major John Naton who is conducting the annual Salvation Army—Register campaign, one of the Salvation Army lassies yesterday came upon a miserably poor little shack where the mother had recently died, the father having died some time ago. The eldest child, a girl of 15, was doing her best to be a mother to the six children younger than herself.

The English star, arriving by boat to spend the winter in Hollywood, said he is taking his first holiday.

Arliss' vacation began when he completed his last picture for Gaumont-British in London. Mrs. Arliss is with him.

Test Validity Of Tax for Publicity

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 21.—(UP)—Validity of a tax on persons for advertising purposes was under challenge today in superior court. The suit was brought by the California Fruit Exchange and a number of Lake county growers, who sought a test of the act whereby the Bartlett pear pro-rate committee placed an assessment of three cents a box on pears shipped out of state and 2 1/2 cents for intrastate shipments to finance a pear advertising campaign.

Oral arguments will be resumed Jan. 6.

China Seeks Assistance From Russia

SHANGHAI, Wednesday, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Various reports indicated today that the reorganized Chinese government in Hankow, in which the former Chinese Communist party has been given a dominant role, is making a new drive for extensive military aid from Soviet Russia.

The reports, none of which could be confirmed officially, included:

1. That Chiang Ching-Kuo, son of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek who long was estranged from his father, is leading an Outer Mongolian army of 100,000 men into Shansi Province, in the north, to aid the Chinese former Red Army commander by Gen. Chu Teh. The Outer Mongol armies are Soviet trained and equipped.

DIVORCE LASTS ONLY 3 DAYS

It was a temporary, week and divorce for Mrs. Margaret Rutledge, who got her decree last Friday from Judge Rutledge. Today she found herself again the wife of Rutledge, though there had been no new ceremony.

Rutledge, who had allowed the decree to go by default last Friday, appeared before Superior Judge G. K. Seovel yesterday and succeeded in having the decree set aside. Rutledge will contest the suit, it was stated.

Grounds a Secret

The grounds for setting aside the decree were not disclosed, for it was settled at a conference in the judge's chambers, but they were understood to involve the divergence of the court's decree from provisions of a property settlement between the husband and wife, prior to the divorce hearing.

That agreement had provided that each was to have custody of their ten-month-old daughter six months each year. Judge Seovel refused to approve such arrangements for the child's custody, contending that an infant should be with its mother at all times. Accordingly Mrs. Rutledge was granted sole custody, and Rutledge was ordered to pay $30 per month toward the child's support, with the privilege of visiting the baby at reasonable times.

Rutledge then decided, it was understood, to seek withdrawal of the decree, so that he might enter a contest of the case.

NATION'S WPA ROLL HITS HIGH FOR '37

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—The Works Progress Administration today reported a weekly increase of 20,128 persons on relief rolls, bringing total registration for relief on Dec. 11 to 1,557,589. The advance was the largest for any week during 1937.

The figure, although more than 100,000 over the low of the year reached on Oct. 2, was slightly less than the estimate by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins. At a press conference just before he left for Rochester, Minn., Hopkins predicted the figure would reach 1,575,000.

The increase reflected WPA's expansion program to meet the heavier demands during the winter months.

SOVIET NAVY IN FAR EAST STRENGTHENED

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Persistent reports were heard today that Russia was strengthening her Far East air and sea forces on a large scale.

Latest advices said Russia was moving part of the Black Sea fleet to Vladivostok. The battleship Lieutenant Schmidt, not listed in the navy roster, and the armored cruiser Red Ukraine, accompanied by destroyers and 20 submarines, were reported to have been ordered from Sebastopol.

Detachments of the air force from Moscow and Kiev also were reported to have been sent to the Far East.

78 DIE IN FLAMES OF NIPPON THEATER

TOKYO, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Seventy-eight persons were killed today in a fire which started as they were watching a news reel of the Chinese war, hoping to see their friends or relatives among the Japanese troops in action.

There were 500 villagers of Nishimuro, in Wakayama prefecture, in the primary school to see the film. They took their children with them. Fire started as the reel was being run. There was a stampede and hours later firemen had recovered bodies of 78 persons, including 27 children and 21 women, from the ruins.

SWALLOWING NICKEL BLAMED FOR DEATH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—(UP)—A nickel she swallowed caused the death last night of 3-year-old Donna O'Hara of Delano, Cal., just as she was being prepared for an operation that was expected to save her life.

The child, according to doctors, swallowed the coin two weeks ago. Her parents took her successively to hospitals in Delano, Visalia and Bakersfield. Surgeons at the Kern county emergency hospital in Bakersfield advised that she be sent to Los Angeles.

Don Leeper, the grandfather, drove the suffering child and her mother to the Wilshire hospital here. She had just been prepared for the operating room, where surgeons planned to probe for the coin with the aid of a bronchoscope, when she died.

ALF LONDON OFFERS PLAN HIS SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today in a telegram to former Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas declared the United States rejects a foreign policy of peace at any price.

Responding to a telegram from Landon pledging his support to the President's foreign policy, particularly in the present Far Eastern crisis, President Roosevelt said that while the American people want peace they have "rejected every suggestion that ultimate security can be assured by closing our eyes" to events taking place in other parts of the world.

Statement Made Public

The correspondence between the President and the Republican candidate for president in the last national election was made public at the state department upon instructions from the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt was at the time lunching with Secretary of State Cordell Hull and had just finished a conference with Chinese Ambassador C. T. Wang.

Landon apparently inspired by the present tense situation between

LIBRARY HEAD RESIGNS POST

County Librarian Dorothy Wents today filed her resignation with the county supervisors, effective December 31, and announced that she has accepted the post of county librarian in Solano county. She will commence her duties in Fairfield, the county seat, January 1.

Lower salaries paid in Orange county for public service was responsible for the resignation of Miss Wents, she said, and explained that she was going to Solano county because the change represented an advancement, although Solano is considerably smaller than Orange county, both in population and property valuation. Its assessed valuation is only $41,440,899, as compared to Orange county's $189,675,000, but Miss Wents admitted that she will receive $30 per month more in her new post than she was paid as head of Orange county's library system, despite a recent increase. She has been county librarian here since May, 1932.

Selection of a successor to Miss Wents has not yet been made, but it is understood that the appointee will come from outside the county, as there is no one in the county who is stated. The appointment, it was said, probably will be made upon recommendation of the state librarian.

Miss Wents departed today for Fairfield, where she will remain until next Friday, completing arrangements for taking up her new duties.

S. A. CHRISTMAS BUSINESS TO SET RECORD

SURVEY SHOWS SHARP UPTREND IN STORES HERE

With the majority of stores in Santa Ana reporting considerable increases in Christmas sales over those of the banner year of 1936, merchants of the city today declared they are well satisfied with present results of 1937 Christmas buying, according to Phil Brown, secretary and manager of the Business Men's Association.

A survey of business transacted at a number of the stores reveals that Christmas buying began earlier this season and was characterized by a steady increase while business men stated that the last-minute push will carry the volume of sales well over sales of last season.

Monday Sets Mark
In spite of windy weather, Monday was the peak day for all time at one business establishment. A generous Christmas spirit is in evidence, it was said at one large store with sales comparing favorably with those of last year. A 20 per cent increase in sales over last year was noted at another important store, more employees than ever before having been required on the sales force. At this store, a record of Christmas business has been tabulated for the many years and this year's mark indicates the best business since 1927. The best in merchandise is in demand it was stated, and a frequent request is not for something less expensive but for "something better."

A general opinion expressed by the merchants is that the present trend in Christmas buying will culminate in record last-minute sales and that the Christmas sales and that the Christmas buying is indicative of a healthy business condition throughout the city. According to Brown applications for credit at the Business Men's Association show an increase of 20 per cent this year over those of last year, indicating that a larger number of persons are sure of their ability to pay for articles

Yule Tree Event To End Tomorrow

BRUSH FIRES UNDER CONTROL

A brush fire which flamed over a 1500-acre tract in the San Mateo canyon since midnight Sunday now is under control and a patrol will be established in the area for several days, it is reported at the state fire department at Orange. Joe Scherman, state forest ranger, has been in charge of the men battling the blaze.

Last night the crew of 60 men replaced the 250 who have been employed since the fire broke out at the point where Orange, Riverside and San Diego counties are joined. Heavy brush and timber were burned and a considerable amount of game destroyed as deer and quail fled before the leaping flames fanned into an inferno by a strong wind.

A grass fire at Costa Mesa yesterday afternoon endangered two frame houses at Harbor and Victoria streets. About one acre was burned over and the fire was brought under control by the Costa Mesa fire department. The fire started when rubbish was burned by C. Sherman of Costa Mesa, the fire getting out of control.

At the state fire department this morning, a warning was issued regarding fire hazards at the present time and residents of the county are asked to exercise the greatest care in burning trash.

F. D. R. SOUNDS PEACE POLICY

Japan and the United States, wired the President the following message from Topeka, Kans., yesterday:

"Dear Mr. President:

Assures Support

"A year ago at the Gridiron dinner, in the spirit of the old American tradition that politics cease at the water's edge, I pledged you co-operation and support in the difficult foreign situations confronting your administration.

"That is a grand principle, and we must evidence our good faith in it. It means that there must be no demagogic playing of politics at the expense of the country's unity in dangerous situations such as now confront us.

"Therefore, I want to renew my pledge, especially in view of the fact that so many members of congress, of both parties, seem to have forgotten this basic principle of American politics and by their actions help create the impression on foreign nations that they do not trust your administration of foreign affairs. They would hamstring your conduct of extremely delicate foreign situations.

Wrong Impression
"These members are pursuing the same dangerous course followed by those members of the British parliament who early in 1914 gave the impression that England either would not or could not fight under any circumstances.

"I congratulate you on your firm 'no' to the proposed legislation that would take away the power of congress to declare war. You and I both know the American people want peace, but they want a peace that will enable us to maintain the respect of the other nations of the world.

Alf M. London."

F. D. R. in Answer

The President replied today:

"My Dear Governor London:

"The generous spirit of your telegram helps me to meet the problems which confront our country in the field of foreign relations during these troublous times.

"The pledge which you gave at the Gridiron dinner a year ago carried force because of the patriotic motive which prompted it. The renewal of that pledge not only strengthens the hand of the government but gives all of our citizens a good example.

"I believe that the overwhelming majority of our countrymen, regardless of politics, race, creed or color, from the days of Washington to this hour have desired to pursue the even tenor of their way at peace with all nations and all peoples.

"But throughout our long history we Americans have rejected every suggestion that ultimate security can be assured by closing our eyes to the fact that whether we like it or not we are a part of a large world of other nations and peoples.

"As such we owe some measure of co-operation and even leadership in maintaining standards of conduct helpful to the ultimate goal of general peace.

Franklin D. Roosevelt."

the net deficit estimate to $695,000,000.

It is that figure which soon may be revised again to higher levels. The new estimate may be made in the first week of January when the President submits his regular budget message to congress.

That budget will revise estimates for the current fiscal year, which began July 1 and which will end June 30, 1938. And it will include entirely new budget estimates for the next fiscal year, called the fiscal year 1939.

Doubt that the deficit can be held within the $695,000,000 estimate to which Mr. Roosevelt currently is committed rests upon three factors:

1. Mr. Roosevelt's failure to force an economy showdown with the special session of Congress.

2. Congress' usual willingness to spend and the unwillingness to assess new taxes.

3. Possibility that the business recession will reduce federal tax revenue further below levels upon which budget estimates were based.

In the special session congress refused to consider Mr. Roosevelt's request that federal highway expenditures be reduced by $113,000,000.

It is understood that administration request for help in putting over the highway economy were met with demands in some big business quarters that economy first be applied elsewhere, notably in relief, and rivers and harbors spending.

The treasury announced today that income tax collections for the Dec. 15 quarterly period, tabulated through Dec. 20, are $192,544,014 higher than the same period last year.

On basis of telegraphic reports, the treasury said income tax collections for the period totaled $467,250,772. The figure also exceeds by more than $17,000,000 unofficial treasury estimates for the December collection date.

The telegraphic reports carried the tabulation through Dec. 20 for all states except Delaware and New Mexico. For those states the figures ran only to Dec. 16.

"Time Out" Taken By County Solons

Supervisors took "time out" this morning for refreshments. Indications were that additional time would be taken during the afternoon session.

When board members arrived this morning they found a basket of big red apples on the desk, the gift of Miss Lulu B. Ott, deputy tax collector. When Chairman Willard Smith arrived he presented board members and newspapermen with a new type of Japanese persimmon grown on his ranch at Villa Park.

the air and naval forces of its independent Far Eastern army which is commanded by Marshal Vassili Bluecher, former chief military adviser to China.

3. That a "full agreement" has been reached between Generalissimo Chiang and Chinese Communist leaders for future conduct of the Chinese-Japanese war and the reconstruction of that nation when the war is ended.

Most significant of the reports was that bearing upon entrance of the Outer Mongolian army into the war.

"Part of Russia"
Outer Mongolia has been virtually a part of Soviet Russia since the young Mongol revolt of 1924 and is linked to Moscow by what amounts to an offensive and defensive alliance.

Russia recently let it be known, however, that she considers Outer Mongolia still a part of China which would make entrance of the Outer Mongol army into the war entirely proper.

The Outer Mongol forces have been estimated at as high as 500,000 men. It is equipped with tanks, airplanes and other modern equipment and has frequently clashed with the Japanese army along the borders of the Japan-controlled state of Manchukuo for the last three years.

BRITAIN RAPS NIPPON POLICY

LONDON, Dec. 21 — (UP) — Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, criticizing Japan for failing to consider a peaceful solution of the war with China, told the House of Commons during debate on foreign affairs today that Britain has no thought of neglecting its duty of protecting its interests in the orient.

"Whatever the rights or wrongs of the Chinese-Japanese dispute," Chamberlain said, "no attempt has been made by Japan to seek a peaceful solution."

"The government," he continued, "is anxious to serve the cause of peace by any honorable means, but it must not be thought that our own desire for peace and our patience meant that we are unmindful of our international obligations or forgetful of our duty to protect British interests."

TELEGRAPH FIRMS

SEEK RATE BOOST

Due to decrease in revenues, according to telegraph company officials, the telegraph companies are about to apply to the federal communications commission for a 15 per cent increase in rates.

In making application, officials said, they are obliged to break a precedent of 30 years' standing. "The telegraph industry not only has met all of the increasing costs arising during the past three decades, but actually decreased the cost of its service to the public," officials said. "The only increase in telegraph rates in the past 30 years was during the World War when the government operated the service."

The officials said the general slackening of business, upon which the industry's revenue depends, has caused the decision to appeal to the communications commission for the 15 per cent increase in rates. The telegraph companies are operating either at a deficit or on very slender margin, the officials declared.

Contrary to popular belief, only about 5 per cent of all known species of bees are of the social type, that is, living together in colonies.

LEGION TO GIVE MUSIC PROGRAM

Adding variety to the week's series of Christmas programs broadcast nightly at 7 o'clock from the city hall, will be that of Wednesday night by American Legion and auxiliary.

Arthur Eklund, commander of the Legion, will serve as master of ceremonies; the buglers of the Legion, and the quartet of the auxiliary with Miss Ruth Armstrong as director, will be featured in the hour of music, which will include several solos.

The buglers include Legionnaires Al Jones, Elmer Christensen, Max Gowdy, Claude Wells, Harold Lomon, John Cleary, Andy Anderson, Dr. Fred K. Haiber, and Russell Hardcastle. The Auxiliary quartet is composed of Josephine Lykke, Zola Maag, La Verne Van Wyk and Zara Kyle.

A fanfare by the bugles will open the program promptly at 7 o'clock, followed by the quartet numbers, "Hark! What Mean Those Holy Voices" and "Angels O'er the Fields." Zara Kyle will sing "Holy City" by Adams; Lehman's "No Candle Was There and No Fire" and "O Holy Night" (Adams) will feature the quartet followed by the solo number, "The Virgin's Slumber Song" (Reger) by La Verne Van Wyk, and the program will close with the ensemble, "Silent Night" (Gruber).

Jane Is No 'Dummy'

Jane Withers, above, appears in a scene from "5 Fathers," singing a duet with one of the famous Hartman "dummies" at Walker's today. Warner Oland in "Charlie Chan on Broadway," is second feature. The program ends tonight.

LIGHTS GO ON EARLY IN S. A. TODAY—IT'S SHORTEST DAY!

This is the day that theoretically cause the light bill to go higher, for it is the shortest day of the year and tomorrow officially inaugurates the advent of Winter.

In December the North Pole is tilted 23 degrees, 27 seconds away from the sun, and the nights in the northern hemisphere are longer than the days. The greatest angle will be reached at 1:22 p. m. tomorrow, according to astronomical calculations, and from that time on the days will become longer until June 21, 1938.

If you like the technical name for all that is going on around you, it is the Winter solstice.

GETS DRIVE PERMIT

John C. Duke, 1520 West Second street, last night was granted permission to drive a taxicab in Santa Ana. City council approved granting of necessary permit.

POLICE HUNT FOR LAGUNA RESIDENT

Ted P. Grigg, 49, Laguna Beach cleaner and presser, was being sought today as a missing person, according to report of sheriff's officers.

Guy H. Grigg, 715 South Barton, Santa Ana, reported the beach city man missing. The beach city man is described as five feet, nine and one-half inches tall, weighing 155 pounds, having blue eyes and light brown hair. He wears glasses and a "Commercial Travelers" pin.

Beach Rooster Has Two Horns

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 21.—This is the story of a big red rooster named "Red Devil." He won that name because he has two horns that stick out from the top of his head. The name is unbecoming of his disposition for he is friendly as a dog and as gentle as a kitten.

Not many roosters go on a pleasure tour across country, but "Red Devil" did just that. He is the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Halliley. He was in a show at the Texas centennial celebration and then travelled in a sedan to Florida and back to Huntington Beach. The rooster was purchased from Sam Clapp's brother. He was hatched with other normal chickens on a ranch near San Diego.

COUNCIL NOTES

Coach Bill Cook and his all-star gridiron team of 1937 sent a communication to city council last night, wishing the councilmen a merry Christmas and thanking them for cooperation during the football season in connection with use of the municipal bowl.

Bid of Gilbert P. Campbell for printing of 500 copies of Santa Ana's city ordinance, recently codified, with elimination of outmoded ordinances, was accepted by city council last night. Each copy will have approximately 240 pages, the bid being $849. A second bid in the amount of $960 was submitted by the Quality Print shop.

Because the federal government no longer allows WPA projects for giving surgery treatment of trees, city council last night eliminated such a project recently under consideration. City Engineer J. L. McBride pointed out that removal of trees and replanting are permitted but not surgery. If removal and replacing are desirable, he said, a new request to WPA authorities must be made. The government holds that surgery is purely "maintenance" and cannot be a WPA project in the future.

COUNCIL PLANS TO TAKE ACTION ON JANUARY 3

City councilmen last night put their hands in their pockets, figuratively, and refused to touch the ordinance they have prepared to ban race track wagering forwarding agencies.

"In view of the activities in many other cities and in view of the uncertainty regarding legality of prohibitory ordinances such as the one here, I move the ordinance be laid over until January 3," Councilman Plummer Bruns, police commissioner, said.

The action was unanimous. Council already has adopted a prohibitory ordinance, to ban the forwarding agencies, but must give it second reading before it becomes effective.

Apply For Licenses

There are three agencies active here now and all have filed requests with council for licenses to do business. They are the California Forwarding company, 416 West Fourth, by C. Y. Dyer; Reliable Forwarding agency, 304 Bush, by J. P. Sullivan, Orange, and Santa Ana Forwarding agency, 204 1-2 East Fourth, by Karl Baker, Santa Ana. State Attorney General U. S. Webb yesterday offered cities and counties a model ordinance for licensing and control of betting agents and elimination of "legal bookies." Santa Ana councilmen will consider Webb's ordinance which Webb said is the result of long study of the problem with city and county officials.

$5,000 Bonds Required

By the ordinance, elimination of "legal bookies" would be placed squarely up to the city or county licensing board under the measure since prospective forwarding agents would be required to prove "fit and proper" qualifications to the council or board of supervisors as a condition of obtaining a license. To insure responsibility afterward, the ordinance would require betting agencies to post bonds of $5,000 each. License fees, Webb said, could be varied to make agencies pay cost of strict supervision, to see that all wagers found their way to the pari-mutuel machines at the track.

Riverside Adopts

Webb declared the ordinance, if adopted locally, would "defeat effectively the so-called bookie evil. Now it is up to the cities and counties to adopt this measure if they want to regulate or eliminate the bookies."

Riverside has adopted an ordinance patterned after Webb's. Inglewood probably will set the fee for betting agencies tonight at $5,000 annually, requiring a $10,000 bond in addition. Last night Redondo Beach city council set the annual license fee for forwarding agencies at $500 and limited the city to two agencies.

Christian Church To Present Play

Annual Sunday School Christmas party of the Orange Avenue Christian church will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, with Phillip Gervel in charge of the affair. Special music and a one-act play will be the features of the entertainment.

More than 100 men and boys gathered at the Christmas Sunday School services held at the church last Sunday, according to A. F. Bash, pastor, who was in charge of the services. G. Willard Bassett led the singing.

Triggs To Speak Before Kiwanis

C. E. Triggs, director of State Emergency Relief Administration for Los Angeles county, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club tomorrow noon at the Masonic temple.

Triggs will speak on "Transition in Relief." Marion Youel will be program chairman for the day and will introduce the speaker.

22 PERSONS FINED AT COURT SESSION

Eight speeders, one of whom was charged with failure to appear, and 14 parking charges were fined by Judge J. G. Mitchell in city court yesterday, court records revealed today.

The speeders were: Fred E. Chappell, Pico, $5; George De Estine, 1224 French street, $8; Lincoln Johnson, Montebello, $8 and $5 for failure to appear; Angelina L. Backs, Pico, $25; Bobby M. Carley, Broa, $8; George Showalter, Long Beach, $10; C. L. Steen, 1127 West Myrtle street, $6; and Roy M. Keeler, 112 West Camille street, $5.

Donald H. Pearson, 422 West First street, led in the number of parking citations answered in city court yesterday with a total of seven citations. All parking citations were fined $1.

SECTION OF CITY 'CHANGED' BY LAW

Permitting Walter L. and Hazel Bunge to remodel a residence at 1807 East First street, to make a duplex of it, city council last night adopted an official motion.

The action was taken upon recommendation of the planning commission. An ordinance, reverting a section in the southwest section of the city now zoned for heavy industry, back to residential zone, was adopted by council last night. The area had been zoned for industry during the years when search for underground pockets of oil was being made and wells were under construction.

Application for permission to use a building at 17th and Bush streets temporarily as a doctor's office was rejected by council upon recommendation of the planning commission. The commission pointed out that application had been made by the renter and not the owner, Dr. Mark A. Dalton, wished to use the building as an office.

EARNINGS FOR 2 GROUPS SHOW BIG INCREASES

Earnings of women and minors in California were increased by $21,060.23 during last November, according to a report received today from Mrs. Mabel E. Kinney, chief of the division of industrial welfare. The increase, the report to Gov. Frank F. Merriam came through activities of the division.

Of this amount, wage adjustments collected totaled $3,189.33, and affected 907 workers. In plants operating on a piece rate basis in the fruit and vegetable canning industry, $17,484.57 was reported as audit adjustments and paid and added to the earnings of 5926 women and minor employees.

Complaints Adjusted

In the nut cracking and sorting industry, operating on a piece rate basis, $388.38 was collected as audit adjustments, and added to the earnings of 265 workers.

During November, 79 complaints received from workers regarding non-payment of wages and improper working conditions were investigated. Complaints concerning hours of labor over the legal maximum were referred to the Bureau of Labor, as they are the enforcing body of the eight-hour law for women and minors.

Outside inspections, investigations, and audits during November totaled 304.

Learners licenses were issued for the employment of 186 learners during the past month. Permits were issued to 53 infirm or elderly workers authorizing their employment at a special minimum wage, and 53 such permits were renewed.

CITY BUYS TRUCKS

Two "dual performance" trucks to be used by the sanitary department were purchased by city council last night from the Truck Sales company. One cost $1,027.97 with a trade-in allowance of an old truck, of $200. The other cost $2,205.94, with trade-in allowance on an old truck, of $250. The trucks will be GMC units. Other, higher bids, were submitted by Elitiste and company, and by W. W. Woods, the city clerk reported.

BANS ANGLE-PARKING

Angle parking on the west side of Sycamore street, between Fifth and Church streets, was eliminated by a motion of city council last night. The action will result in elimination of anything but parallel parking in front of the public library and along the east side of the court house and hall of records. Congestion of traffic by the angle parking was given as reason for the move.

MODERNness implies ACCEPTABILITY

~and in this region the most acceptable fuel is natural gas!

It is significant that almost everyone in this territory uses gas for house-heating, water-heating and cooking—that the gas refrigerator is a leader in sales. For Southern Californians are modern—and where else could modernness be more essential than in a fuel which is used thousands of times a year?

Consider, for example, the many, many hours which gas saves you in cooking. When these hours are added together, the time saved might easily amount to a solid week or more, out of fifty-two.

And gas is not only fast; it gives better results and costs far less. In all its uses, it's your clean, quick economical servant. Let it serve you best through modern gas appliances.

CRIMSON TIDE DUE FRIDAY FOR ROSE CLASSIC

AWARD RHODES SCHOLARSHIP TO 'WHIZZER'

BY WILLIAM DOWNS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

DENVER, Colo.—Byron (Whizzer) White, who played football incidentally and became the year's greatest quarterback, who spurned a $15,000 professional contract and continued to wait tables for his board and room, was speeding eastward on a train today with his one ambition fulfilled.

He won a Rhodes Scholarship. It was all that mattered to him, although he was named to most of the All-America football teams; he was all-conference baseball and basketball star at the University of Colorado; he was president of the student body and the idol of every classmate.

White's ambition became an issue at the University of Colorado, and when the word went out last night that he had passed the competitive test in San Francisco, his football teammates who had gone in training at Fort Worth, Tex., for a New Year's Day game forgot everything else while they celebrated for "Whizzer."

Off to Join Team

Today, White was on his way to join the team, which will meet Rice Institute in the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas.

White is 20. He came to college from Wellington, Colo. He was husky, straightforward and brilliant. He began at once to concentrate on his studies and has made perfect the perfect "A" average in all of them. He became a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the scholastic fraternity. Athletics came naturally to him and he seemed to play the games enthusiastically although he had something else in mind.

He joined a social fraternity and waited tables to pay his way. This year he reached his peak as a football player. He was the nation's leading scorer. Some of the games he won almost unaided and his team was not beaten. He said little about the $15,000 professional football offer but it was understood to have been one of several opportunities that he rejected.

He said he only wanted the scholarship, so that he could "go over and see how Sam is doing." Sam is his elder brother who went to Oxford two years ago with a scholarship.

When the nominations were made from this state, he was one of the two selected. He went to San Francisco for the examination last night, where nine scholars from this Southwest district were nominated and only four could win.

Given Oral Test

Professor P. W. Buck of Stanford University, who headed the examining board, said that the test was oral and its nature was confidential.

"The committee discusses various things with the candidates," he said. "Generally the conversation opens with the subject in which the candidate is more interested."

At Fort Worth, the Colorado football coach, Bernard Oakes, said that White's victory in the examination had bolstered the spirit of the whole team and enhanced its chances of winning the New Year's Day game. The 35 players cheered when they got the word that White had won.

YOUNG CHRISTY ON WRESTLING LINEUP

Orange County Athletic club wrestling fans who have watched Vic Christy in action will be given a chance to compare the "boy wonder" with his kid brother, "Terrible Ted" Christy, when Ted meets "Popeye" O'Brien in the one-half special attraction Thursday night.

Vic wrestled at the Highway arena last year. Ted is making his first start this week and those who are familiar with the work of the two claim Ted is the better man.

The contrast, however, is that Ted is a villain of the first order while Vic is a popular scientific grappler.

Two three-fall to a finish matches share main event honors. Pete Belcastro, claimant to the Pacific Coast junior heavyweight championship, meet the "Black Dragon" in one bout and Frank Clements, opponent Bobby Roberts, rated the most scientific in the 175-pound division, in the other. Roberts won in straight falls from the "Black Panther" Thursday, Frank Taylor, the Robert Taylor of the mat, draws Duke Pettigrove as his foe in the 20-minute opener.

What Would Her Daddy Have Said Had He 'Phoned?

SOUTH BEND — Imagine the surprise of a Notre Dame student who telephoned nearby St. Mary's college and asked for Jean Rockne, daughter of the famous coach.

When a girl's voice answered, he asked, "Is this Miss Rockne?"

"No," came the reply, "this is Miss Rockne's roommate, Miss Warner."

Vosmik Should Star In Hub; Meyer Expects To Play 154

FINISHED A SINGLE POINT BEHIND MEYER, SLUMPED IN 1936, AND WAS SENTENCED TO THE ST. LOUIS BROWNS. BUT VOSMIK RECOVERED HIS FORM, WAS REPRIEVED, AND SHOULD HELP THE BOSTON RED SOX IN 1938...

BY HARRY GRAYSON

(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

Cleveland's hesitancy to accept Charles (Buddy) Meyer in a deal with Washington recalls the fall of the American league's two best hitters of 1935. They were this same "Buddy" Meyer and Joe Vosmik of the Indians.

On the face of things, one might suspect that the battle for the junior circuit's batting crown of two years ago, waged until the final day of the campaign, left Meyer and Vosmik exhausted. That is absurd, of course, but the fact remains that it took both players some time to recover from the shock. Meyer hasn't been himself since, as a matter of fact.

Meyer was something in the way of a surprise winner in 1935 because he wasn't afraid to go to bat on the concluding afternoon, when he manufactured four hits.

Vosmik stood pat. He refused to take a chance, and remained in the dugout, where in addition to finishing a point behind Meyer, he obviously contracted bad habits.

The Cleveland Bohemians slumped in 1936, and was sentenced to the St. Louis Browns. That was such a lesson to him, however, that he snapped out of it in a hurry, and with such good results that he recently was reprieved. He should help Boston Red Sox in 1938.

Oscar Vitt, the new Cleveland manager, was keenly interested when he heard that Meyer was on the market, but cooled off when he discussed the brown-eyed Mississippi with other American league players.

TO PLAY FULL SCHEDULE

Although Meyer ankled to the plate 430 times in 125 games last season, Vitt was told that the man who starred with the Nationals for so long was pretty well washed up. His legs were fairly well shot, they said. He couldn't get out of his tracks.

This upset your correspondent, who dislikes to see first class chaps like Meyer pass out, so I telegraphed him at his Ellenville, Miss., home, and was greatly pleased at his reply. There may be news in it for some of the boys.

Meyer expects to play a full schedule in 1938. He's feeling great, and is confident that he will make a complete comeback. During only one season could it be said that he was away for any great distance, you know—1936—when he appeared only as a pinch-hitter in a good share of his 156 games and his batting mark dropped to .239.

Meyer's weight is back to normal. He's hunting quail or engaging in some other outdoor exercise daily to keep his pins in shape. It's early to bed and early to rise with him, and he insists that if he keeps improving as he has since the 1937 season ended, he can't see any reason why he can't roar along as he did while playing such an important role in keeping the Nationals up front.

When Clark Griffith hears this, he'll be tougher to deal with, for money-playing second baseman like Meyer are few and far between.

Meyer will be 34, March 16. Rogers Hornsby and Frank Frisch played plenty of second base at 36. Charley Gehringer will be 35 next year.

Christmas Shopping Most Arduous Sport

BY HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES—Stop ten persons on the street and ask them the most arduous sport played in this country and the chances are that they will name either football or rowing or track or boxing.

Absurd nominations, of course, because every right-minded man if he will only stop to think, knows that the most rugged, exacting and exhausting of all American sports is Christmas shopping.

In the first place, no other sport requires so long a time to play. Boxing doesn't last more than 15 rounds, oarsmen complete their work in 20 minutes or so, a round of golf takes a morning at most, and a dash man can finish his job in under ten seconds, flat.

But the world's record for Christmas shopping is five days, and it's not official because the holder, a Duluth furniture upholsterer, had two of his gifts returned and exchanged. The tip-off on how arduous Christmas shopping is can be found in the newspapers every day. At this time of year all newspapers run a story each day pointing out how many shopping days are left, "only ten more shopping days until Christmas—only nine more shopping days—this is not a warning, as so many ignorant folk believe. It is an encouragement, telling the citizen that if they can just hold out a bit longer the dread shopping days will soon be over. I would not be surprised if these displays are not a subtle bit of government propaganda, designed to keep the citizenry from open revolt.

Just as the development of a good left hand is the most difficult thing in boxing, and a brassie shot from a close lie a golfer's most trying shot, so the buying of a present for one "wife" is the most troublesome part of Christmas shopping.

I believe a check-up would show that a great percentage of the gray hair now worn by American husbands could be traced to those awful moments resulting from shopping for their wives. Think of the problems confronting a Christmas buying husband.

In the first place, there is his own pocket book. He must find something that pleases it. He can not "just shoot the works" so to speak, even if he felt so inclined, because the cold gray dawn of the 26th would question such an expenditure. And when wives come to a matter they don't abide by parliamentary rules and come to a point or order—they come flying out of the butler's pantry, and rise to a point of riot.

Then there is the bewildering problem of what size things women wear. In clothes wom-

CRACK ORANGE FIVE HERE FOR TILT TOMORROW

Santa Ana's get a peak at Orange high school's formidable basketball club tomorrow when Coach "Hod" Chambers brings his Southern Counties tournament champions to Andrews gymnasium for an afternoon workout against Santa Ana's Saints.

The Orangemen have lost only one game this season, a close one to Fullerton, and will be heavily favored against the luckless Santa Ana brigade.

Santa Ana yesterday turned in a 32-27 win over Johnny Ward's Garden Grove Argonauts, 32-27, with Center Melvin Barron making 12 of the points for Coach Joe Koegler's gang. Santa Ana's reserve team also finished in front, 20-18.

Chet Coates, who looked like the best player on either side, sank 7 for Garden Grove and narrowly missed other shots. Lloyd LeClair rang up 6.

Wednesday's struggle with Orange will be the last for Santa Ana until after Christmas. Excelsior comes here December 28 and the Saints travel to Covina the next day. That will be all until Coach Koegler sends his gang against Chaffey Jan. 7 in a Citrus Belt league opener.

Lineups: Santa Ana (32) (27) Garden Grove O'Campo (6) (22) Hudson Partida (12) (7) Coates Barron (12) (7) LeClair Webb (4) (4) Allen Allen (2) (2) Smith (5) (3) Garden Grove—M. LeClair (2).

Five Santa Ana Players Receive Arizona Letters

TUCSON, Ariz.—Five Santa Ana, Cal. students here at the University of Arizona have been awarded varsity football letters for the past season.

They were Fred Erdhaus and Eddie Held, ends; Al Tittensor, end and guard; Bob Holmes, center, and Raymond Nowotny, tackle. Tittensor, Erdhaus and Nowotny are graduates of Santa Ana High school; Held, was graduated by Redondo Union High school, and Holmes is a graduate of Tustin High school. All are at present residents of Santa Ana.

CAL. RAMBLERS ACT AS VARSITY STOOGES

BERKELEY — (UP) — The California Ramblers, famous "scrub" football aggregation, today impersonated Alabama's football team to help the Golden Bears' first string players get in condition for the Pasadena Rose Bowl game on New Year's Day.

The hard-working Ramblers, who have played live-bait for the big California team in scrimmage all season, were called out by Coach "Stub" Allison yesterday for the first time since the game against Stanford.

All-America Halfback Sam Chapman was back in uniform after a hand injury that took 16 stitches to close. He gashed his hand on broken window glass.

Today's scrimmage was to be the last hard workout before the squad disbanded Christmas eve.

Seabiscuit Entered In Arcadia's Opener

ARCADIA. — (UP) — Seabiscuit, of the cup. Seabiscuit was named for the same race last year but later withdrawn. He is not expected to start Saturday unless Jockey "Red" Pollard, who has handled the sleek brown horse throughout the past year, is permitted to ride. Pollard was grounded by stewards at Tanforan.

Weights for the mile event will be announced tonight, with the Charles S. Howard case certain to draw the heaviest impost. Other prominent nominees were Amor Brujo, Whichest, winner of the $10,000 San Francisco Handicap at Tanforan; Tick On, King Saxon, Indian Broom, Fair Knight and Star Shadow.

The Christmas Stakes was the springboard which started Top Row on a victory streak which ended with the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap two years ago. Last year Top Row's stablemate, Goldeneye, came home first, giving Owner A. A. Baroni two legs on the trophy. Star Shadow is his only entry this year, but another win will give him permanent possession

Tom Gwynne, noted turf authority and the Pacific Coast's leading handicapper of the past three meetings, will be back with The Register for the duration of the Santa Anita season that opens Christmas Day.

His inimitable column—At The Tracks—as well as his race selections will be a daily feature of this newspaper, beginning tomorrow.

Gwynne returns to Santa Anita today after a highly successful campaign at Bay Meadows and Tanforan where he led all handicappers in winners, just as he did for The Register last winter at Santa Anita. Twice, last year, Gwynne picked successive winners and he gave Register readers several horses that bounced down in front at juicy odds. He was one of the first to string along with Seabiscuit, picking the "wonder horse" to win the rich Santa Anita handicap and other stakes. Seabiscuit missed in the big race by a mere head and went on from there to become the nation's No. 1 handicap horse.

In addition to his newspaper connections, Gwynne is employed by the Tanforan track as director of publicity.

DeCorrevont Most Sought Prep In Football History

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

(Football's spotlight has turned to a prep school player—Bill De Correvont—who scored 211 points for Chicago's Austin high school against the most-sought-after college material in the country. George Kirksey will tell in a series of articles of a kid of a 140 Bill is, how he takes his success and how he earned his fame. The first dispatch follows.)

CHICAGO—His name—Bill De Correvont—sounds like a football player's.

His feats on the high school gridiron are almost unbelievable—he scored 211 points last season. Every college coach from coast to coast would welcome him with open arms. He is idolized, harassed, imposed on, cheered and sought after.

Daily letters arrive, the phone rings, individuals call in person. It's a radio offer, a motion picture proposal, an advertising tie-up. They all are seeking the use of the name "De Correvont."

From now on there will be no peace for Bill De Correvont, the most publicized high school athlete in the history of American football.

As Elmer Layden of Notre Dame puts it, "De Correvont will never be a sophomore. The public and newspapers will not let him. They will be following every move he makes from now on. His college coach will never have a chance to shove him into the background."

Yet Bill is a normal American boy, different from all the rest only in that he has a touch of athletic genius. He would prefer to go his way quietly and without benefit of ballyhoo but he realizes now that isn't possible.

No one appreciates his position more than Bill and he is prepared to play the cards as they fall. He isn't suffering from delusions about what's ahead of him.

"It doesn't make a lot of difference to me what the newspapers say," he said. "All I ask is a 50-50 break. I fully realize my position. It's neither one that I asked for nor expected but I'm prepared to face it."

Bill weighs 172 and is 5-11. He has unruly blond hair, and blue eyes. His father, who died three years ago, was French and his mother is of Danish-German stock. He was born to be an athlete. He was able to skate when he was two. He started with baseball and football at four and when he went

NASSAU, Bahamas.—(UP)—Sam Snead, long-hitting West Virginian, won $800 and a lot of satisfaction in coming from behind to win the fourth annual Nassau Open golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 276.

The satisfaction, which was more important than the $800, was derived from the fact that Snead finally blasted the growing myth that he was only a front-runner.

Then the final round of the $3500 tournament started yesterday evening, trailed Vic Ghezzi by two strokes.

But Snead scored a par 70 to cut away Ghezzi's advantage and won by a stroke. Ghezzi slipped on the final 18, scoring a 73 and a grand total of 277.

Chief attraction of the day's play was the record-breaking round of 64 turned in by E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., rocketing him from the pack to third position with an aggregate of 278.

BY THOMAS A. DOZIER

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—Believing that "we have a good chance to win" the 1937 Alabama Crimson Tide entrained today for Pasadena and the New Year's Day game with California—the Southern's fifth Rose Bowl clash in 12 years.

Headed by Coach Frank Thomas, an official party of 65 persons, including 40 players, university officials and newspapers, boarded a Southern Pacific Crimson Tide special for the four-day journey to the coast.

Gaily decorated in red and white hunting, the 10-car special, which will take a Southern route to the Pacific, pulled out of Tuscaloosa shortly after 10 a. m. A crowd of enthusiasts was on hand for the send-off, despite the fact that the University's student body was on Christmas vacation.

More than a hundred fans accompanied the team on the Tide special, and at least a thousand others were expected to be at Pasadena by New Year's Day.

Recalling Alabama's record of three wins, one tie and no losses in Rose Bowl competition, Coach Thomas viewed his squad's final scrimmage yesterday, and remarked:

"I think we have a good chance to win. Our players are all in good condition and we are highly pleased with the fighting spirit shown by every man."

The squad entrained in almost perfect physical condition. Only Cullen Scruggs, a reserve guard, was on the ailing list. He suffered minor hurts in a recent scrimmage and probably will be prevented from Bowl service.

The optimistic tidemen went through a short drill—minus rough work—before entraining, and settled down for the confining ride to San Antonio, Tex., the first stop-off.

There the Tide special will pause long enough Wednesday for Thomas to send his charges through a brief drill to keep muscles from becoming train-stiff.

Thursday at Tucson, Ariz., the squad again will go through limbering up paces before the final lap to Pasadena.

The arrival in California is scheduled Friday morning. Work-outs will be held in Pasadena on the campus of Occidental college.

EASTERNERS ARRIVE FOR CHARITY GAME

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — The eastern All-star football squad, led by Andy Kerr and Bernie Bierman, arrived here today for the East-West Shrine benefit New Year's Day game.

The Western squad, coached by "Biff" Jones and "Babe" Hollingberry, took a loosening-up drill yesterday in their first workout. The Easterners were taken on parade through Berkeley and Oakland, across the San Francisco bay bridge and through downtown San Francisco. Later they will attend a dinner and public rally.

Continuing to make it a runaway race, the Dairymen last night easily defeated the Church of Brethren, 46-18, in the first game of a double header. This extended their winning streak to 10 games in league play. The Advent Christians eased into second place in the second game when they upset Treewest Products, 30-22.

A triple billing is slated tomorrow night. The Southern Counties Gas company and Patterson's Dairy hook up in the 7 o'clock opener, Burr Lumber company and Excelsior Creamery clash at 8 and Montgomery Ward and Penhall Brothers match baskets at 9.

DeCORREVONT HEADED FOR PACIFIC COAST SCHOOL

PURDUE AND INDIANA FIVES TO INVADE L. A.

LOS ANGELES—When the Purdue university basketball team visits here next week to meet Southern California Tuesday night and U. C. L. A. Wednesday night in the Pan-Pacific auditorium, Southland fans will have an opportunity to see the Big Ten's most noted exponent of the court art in action.

During the past 17 years, nine Big Ten championships, or ties for championships, have been won by the speedy Boilermaker quintets and this year's squad is reported to be one of the best of Coach Ward Lambert's productions.

Indiana's sharp-shooting squad will visit Los Angeles simultaneously with the Purdue invasion and will play U. C. L. A. next Tuesday and Southern California Wednesday to give fans an inter-sectional doubleheader.

Purdue comes west with a veteran five that narrowly missed a Big Ten title last year. Forwards are Jewell Young and Johnny Sines, senior veterans, and a nationally famous star, having been a unanimous choice for all-American last year after shattering all Big Ten records for individual scoring with 172 points in 12 games.

Young's greatest asset on the court is a practically unguardable left-handed flip shot. Sines is a speedy ball hawk and great feeder for Young, and is also an excellent scorer. Center is lanky Gene Anderson, a clever ball handler for the pivot post spot. Tom Dickinson, one of the fastest men in Big Ten basketball, returns at guard and his teammate there is Pat Malaska, a fast dribbler who makes up for his lack of height by his alertness in following his man and his quickness in cutting off enemy passes.

Southern California's basketball return home Thursday following a successful trip through the south in which they won two-game series by overwhelming scores.

PENWILESS CARNERA IS CABLED $16,000

NEW YORK—(UP)—Louis Sorel, American manager of former Heavyweight Champion Primo Carnera, will cable the fallen Italian giant $16,000 today, a portion of the money held in Eastern banks pending litigation.

Carnera, recovering from hemorrhage of the kidneys in Budapest, probably never will be able to fight again, and he is said to be virtually penniless. His doctor said that he was "convalescing nicely" and soon will be moved to Venice where his mother runs a hotel.

Several years ago when Carnera was sued for breach of promise by Signora Emilia Tersini, her lawyers had $42,000 of his funds attached in New York and New Jersey banks. It was released several days ago with settlement of all claims against it. Sorel announced the division today.

Carnera's law firm took the first cut—$7,000. Sorel claimed the next $10,000 for the manager's share. He also took an additional sum for releasing Primo from a real estate obligation. Miss Tersini got $1,500.

Fullerton Remains Basketball Favorite

Eastern Jaycee conference basketball followers were still of the opinion today that Coach Art Nunn's Fullerton Yellowjackets are the "team to beat" for the 1938 championship, despite their unexpected defeat in the first round of the Southern California basketball tournament at Ontario last week.

Observers point out that Los Angeles Jaycee, which eliminated the Yellowjackets, has the strongest team in the Western conference. While Coach Nunn's five didn't look too impressive as far as the scoreboard was concerned, Fullerton showed as classy a passing team as there was in the tournament. The Hornets just didn't take enough shots at the basket.

Riverside, the team that went in to the finals at Chaffey, is ranked right behind the favored Hornets. The two "dark horse" quintets of the league will be Santa Ana and Chaffey. Both teams made impressive starts in the tournament, winning their opening games, only to fall in early rounds before Compton, the tournament winner. San Bernardino is also an unknown quantity and might upset the dope before the season is old.

Coach Blanchard Beatty's Santa Anans seem capable of almost anything from winning the conference title to finishing in the cellar.

CO-CAPTAINS

Fordham will have co-captains for the first time in Ram grid history next season, having elected Harry Jacusini, end, and Michael Koeck, guard, to lead the 1938 squad.

SANTA CLARA TEAM TO ENTRAIN SUNDAY

SANTA CLARA—(UP)—Coach "Buck" Shaw ordered light practice sessions today for his Santa Clara football squad which leave Sunday for New Orleans to meet Louisiana State on New Year's day.

Everett Fisher, fullback, and Walt Toomey, tackle, were on the sidelines suffering from minor injuries but both will be able to play in the Sugar Bowl game.

CHICAGO PREP SENSATION TO VISIT IN L. A.

By HARRY GRAYSON (Sports Editor, NEA Service)
CHICAGO—Chicago suspects that Bill DeCorrevont will be making headlines on the Pacific Coast in 1938.

The suspicion is based on the fact that DeCorrevont is going to Hollywood during the Christmas vacation. It isn't every high school boy or girl who gets a trip to Southern California over the holidays, and the presumption is that the jaunt is being made possible by unofficial authority of a west coast university.

DeCorrevont plans to matriculate either in February or September, and the tip is that he'll remain on the golden slope provided he likes the scene, which is excellent in that direction. Thousands of words have been written about DeCorrevont who scored 210 points for Chicago's Austin High in 10 games, nine touchdowns in a single contest, and who played before the largest crowd in football history—120,000 persons at Soldier's Field.

Yet DeCorrevont has not been moved. If anything, he is more modest and retiring than the average 19-year-old lad. Fame usually does one of two things to prodigies. It swells their heads, or forces them into a little world all their own. DeCorrevont seems to have been affected in the latter way.

DeCorrevont's Coach Wood Hays Teammates Accompany Him
DeCorrevont is a striking example of a real and good American boy. A blond cowlick refuses to stay out of his eyes.

He likes to play baseball, which is the mark of the truly great athlete. He has a girl.

DeCorrevont's arm is expected to be out of its sling before he leaves off to Los Angeles. He suffered a fractured collarbone in that post-season plunk at Memphis.

Here is another tip for the boys on the coast. College scouts watching Austin High during the past season have seen something besides DeCorrevont.

Ernie Nevers calls Alfred Bauman, 226-pound tackle, the best high school lineman he has ever seen. Nevers was head linesman in Austin's engagement in Dixie.

Sonny Skor, quarterback, and Don Johnson, center, are others of the 10 Austin seniors given lofty rankings by experts.

Bill Heiland, Austin coach, would like to see the entire team go to the same institution.

What an opportunity for some coach to make himself a great one!

Hammond Sending Better Back Than Michigan's Tom Harmon
Hammond high is another fertile field for the colleges. Unbeaten and untied in 10 games, it was awarded a trophy as the outstanding preparatory outfit in Indiana.

Hammond's line averaged 196 pounds from tackle to tackle and the average age of the boys was 18 years, 10 months, so it is not hard to see why the array's 59-yard line was crossed only half a dozen times.

In the last 41 games Chicago high schools have played against clubfoot the Western division of the Northern Indiana conference, they've won just four, tied two, and lost 35.

This area, loaded with 200-pound tackles and guards, furnishes as much or more material for big time colleges than any other in the United States.

Change Should Help Vosmik and Meyer trip. Tony Lazzeri has just turned 34.

So there is ample reason to believe that Meyer still has a couple of good seasons in his system.

Meyer was all throughout 1936 and worried about his condition last spring.

A hip ailment repeatedly put Vosmik on the sidelines in 1936, and the Cleveland club finally decided that he was too brittle. The 1936 season also was his first of a three-year contract netting Vosmik $42,000, and those who know easy-going Joe assert that such an agreement didn't exactly tend to make take any better care of himself.

But Joe Vosmik will not be 28 until April 4, and performed just as well as ever in left field in hitting .325 in 144 games for the Browns last term. Vosmik is married now, has settled down, and really should come into his own in Boston, where a friendly left-field wall will be to the liking of a splendid right-hand power hitter.

Vosmik has i in him to win the American League batting championship, and with only a fair share of his old efficiency, Meyer would make a whale of a difference in a club like Cleveland, which is badly in need of a second baseman.

But both prefer to forget that batting race of 1935. It was followed by too many headaches.

HOLLYWOOD — FOLLOWING

in the path to fame tread by Paul Whiteman, for whom he worked at one time, Benny Goodman will attempt to turn New York upside down Jan. 16 when he moves his swingeing orchestra into Carnegie Hall, seat of America's musical tradition.

An appearance, particularly a successful one in this famed hall, is the goal of every young musician. It wasn't so many years ago that music critics turned pale when Whiteman announced his plans for a jazz concert in the hallowed halls. Even Papa Maki got cold feet as the history-making day approached, and it was all his manager and friends could do to keep him from canceling the engagement.

But we all remember what followed: Whiteman stock scored a smash up-swing on the market, and George Gershwin rode along to fame.

The question brought to mind is this: What will a Carnegie Hall appearance do for Benny Goodman? I would say he has just about all the prestige and honors he can possibly pack on his back.

More important, however, is: What will his concert do for Swing? Will it establish swing music as a legitimate expression? Said Olin Downes, famed music critic, in a recent statement:

"Real jazz is an intensely creative thing. It is full of improvisations, of life bubbling up in music from musicians who feel it." And take it from your Uncle Canfield, Goodman is a master of improvisation. And does he feel it? B. Goodman plays swing because he can't help it. Swing is in his soul.

The announcement of his concert carried this rather potent paragraph:

"He (Goodman) will render music which centuries from now will be unquestionably called jazz. American folk music, compositions which are indigenous to this life and which are a part of the twentieth century."

Will Goodman's concert do this for swing? It might be a good idea to listen to Benny tonight with this thought in mind. (KNX, 7)

Program Parade . . . Notes
From the San Francisco War Memorial Opera House will come a ninety-minute football rally honoring the Shrine East-West New Year's day football classic.

Coaches, players, spectators and musicians will gather round microphones to pay proper attention to the annual benefit game.

Dick Ellers will act as emcee. Among the speakers listed we find the names of Mayor Angelo J. Rossi, Shrine officials, Don Elliott and Bill Coffman, and Shrine Hospital director, John D. McGilvray. (KPO, 10:15)

Al Johnson's show will attempt to sprinkle a little holiday cheer along the broadcasting band. Leo Carrillo will be guest of honor and will come in for a little kidding about his recent appointment as Grand Marshal of the forthcoming Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade.

Parkyakurik will have to do a little fast stepping between the Hollywood boulevard theater, where he will appear with Jack Oakie at 6:30 p. m. (KNX), and the Vine street playhouse where he does two broadcasts with Johnson, one for easterners at an earlier hour and the 8:30 edition of the west hear. (KNX)

The "rackets" are forgotten this week in the script of Big Town. Arthur Caesar has fashioned a special Christmas episode which takes place in a newspaper office with romance much in evidence between Edward G. Robinson and Claire Trevor.

In broadcasts past, Big Town has proven itself an excellent show and is worthy of anyone's dial. (KNX, 5)

Dis & Data . Star Gazing
Walter O'Keefe is due in town the last of this month. He takes over the Hollywood Mardi Gras, you know, on Jan. 4.

Bing Crosby will be Paul Whiteman's guest when he replaces Hal Kemp on that Friday night cigarette airing New Year's Eve.

APRICOT GROUP WINS SUPPORT OF INSTITUTE

Wholehearted support of the California apricot industry for the program of the American Horticultural Institute, designed to eliminate permanent surpluses, seemed assured today as the result of a resolution adopted at a meeting today in San Francisco of representatives of the industry from all interested counties.

Representation at the meeting included the California apricot association, apricot stabilization committee, California statewide apricot committee, farm inbreed apricot committee, California dried fruit stabilization committee, and the former apricot commodity committee of the California tree fruit agreement.

Makes Recommendation
The resolution endorsed "the program of the American Horticultural Institute Inc., including the voluntary removal of uneconomical or diseased infested orchards and vineyards representing the permanent portion of over-production," and recommended that "the apricot industry take appropriate action for unification of all factors within the industry to formulate a specific plan for participation."

A series of grower meetings will be conducted in the near future in important apricot producing areas. It was announced by Andrew M. Davis, Jr., prominent apricot grower of Brentwood, who presided at the San Francisco meeting.

"Without a doubt," Davis stated, "there are numerous uneconomical apricot plantings which would be removed if the growers were able to obtain financial assistance for this purpose, and as the principle aim of the American Horticultural Institute is to provide this assistance, the movement deserves the unqualified support of all apricot growers."

EXPLORER UNCOVERS DEFINITE TRACES OF LONG 'LOST TRIBE'

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 21. — (UP)—The first direct report from Dr. Helge Ingstad, Norwegian explorer hunting the "lost tribe" of Apache Indians in Northern Mexico, disclosed today he has found definite traces of the Nomadic savages.

The report was contained in a letter to a friend here, dated Dec. 5 from Sierra Madre, Mex. It is in the rugged Sierra Madre mountains that the renegade Apache reportedly fled in 1886 after the capture of Geronimo.

Unmapped Indian Caves
Dr. Ingstad, who started his expedition more than six weeks ago, said he found camps of the Apache, "apparently unmapped Indian caves and Indian writing on rocks."

He said the caves and rock writings have given him "much unwritten history of the lives of these Apache in the Sierra Madre."

The explorer already has crossed the highest part of the "tremendous" mountains twice, he reported, but has not been able to contact the wild Apache.

The day the letter was written, Dr. Ingstad said, "today he will go deeper into the mountains. I will do my utmost to find the Apache, but these mountains are tremendous."

"This is beautiful country, untouched and alive with game," he wrote. "Yesterday it rained, so it may become easier to pick up the track of the Apache."

Dr. Ingstad is accompanied by three men, including two Mexican Apache from an Arizona reservation, and eight mules.

TRI-MOTORCYCLE CLIMBS
SEWARD, Alaska (UP)—Cal M. Brosius gave a satisfactory demonstration of his three-wheel motorcycle climbing the 3,500-foot grade to his gold mine with 200 pounds of freight. This is Alaska's newest mode of transportation, Brosius declares.

MORE SAFETY IS URGE OF LETTER

Santa Ana was invited to adopt another modern "viewpoint" last night as city council received a letter from Victor W. Hartley, managing director of the Pacific Coast Electrical bureau, suggesting that the city pass a new electrical ordinance which would coincide with a state-wide ordinance recently adopted to increase safety.

Council referred the matter to Electrical Inspector W. O. Packard for recommendation. A uniform code was adopted several years ago but is outmoded now, Hartley said. Council recently adopted a uniform building code which is the same as the one used by the state.

CHINESE PLAY GIVEN DEC. 23

After months of preparation all is reported in readiness for the opening Thursday night at Philharmonic auditorium, Los Angeles, of the Chinese comedy spectacle in English, "Lady Precious Stream." Presentation of the comedy throughout the holidays, including New Year's, is announced.

Production activities of an ambitious nature and rehearsals which have been under way for several weeks, will insure a finished presentation of the widely heralded 2000-year-old play, according to Clarence Derwent, stage director for Morris Gest's New York production, who is staging the comedy spectacle and who will be seen in the role of Prime Minister Wang which he played in both London and New York.

Merle Armitage, impresario, who is associated with Gest, noted for "Chu Chin Chow," "Aphrodite," "The Miracle" and other stage spectacles, in presenting the widely heralded comedy, reports wide interest in "Lady Precious Stream" with advance reservations pouring in from all sections of Southern California.

With the exception of the English dialogue, "Lady Precious Stream" will be presented just as it has been performed for 2000 years in China, according to Derwent, the director. Authentic costumes and effects created under the supervision of Mei-Lan-Fang, China's greatest actor-designer, for Gest's elaborate New York production, will be seen.

QUINTS TO GIVE CHRISTMAS DAY PARTY, DANCE

CALLANDER, Dec. 21. (Special)—The Dionne quintuplets are preparing for the biggest Christmas of their young lives this year. They are going to play the host for their parents, brothers and sisters, even including Aliva, Jr., the baby of the family.

The famous sisters are going to entertain. For several weeks they have been rehearsing some simple dances and they even have learned one or two Christmas songs for the occasion.

Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, physician to the quintuplets, will play his usual role of Santa Claus on Christmas eve, but he will not join the party on Christmas day. "It will be purely a family affair," Dr. Dafeo said.

Yvonne, Annette, Cecile, Emilie and Marie are almost veteran troupers by now, at least they shouldn't have stage fright when they act for the family. The babies made their stage debut almost before they could walk. It was early in 1936 that they made their first film, "The Country Doctor."

At that time it was remarked that their theatrical technique was a bit immature, but that was before their second birthday. Their second movie, "Reunion," filmed almost a year later, was the quintuplets' next theatrical adventure. In addition, they have appeared in various movie "shorts."

The quintuplets will have a heavily laden Christmas tree this year, with gifts piled high from their worldwide admirers. Special toys and dolls were bought by papa Oliva Dionne on his recent trip to New York. Dr. Dafeo did not forget his "little girls" either when he visited the metropolis. But the doctors' gifts have been sealed with a "Do Not Open Until Christmas" and he hasn't dropped the slightest hint as to what his little charges may expect.

Probably the oddest gift yet received by the babies is a huge, live turkey that was donated by a Toronto department store. The quintuplets have been photographed with the large bird and they thought it great fun. The turkey, however, didn't care so much for the idea. One of their nurses, who was called upon to hold the bird, wasn't too happy, either. It rebelled and tried to attack her.

This turkey will be on the table for the Dionne family's Christmas dinner, and Dr. Dafeo has said the babies may have a small portion of the white meat.

The quintuplets' schedule for the big day will include their usual frolic in the snow if the weather is not too stormy. They probably will be permitted to go outside once in the morning and again in the afternoon.

Brothers Daniel and Ernest and Sisters Pauline and Rose plan to have a romp with the babies. Only Oliva, Jr., will miss this bit of boisterous play. The older children will take their younger sisters on the specially constructed toboggan slide and then will go sleigh riding with them.

Below zero weather does not interfere with the quintuplets' outings. They only are kept inside when the weather becomes too stormy. Two degrees below zero is nothing in their lives. They are bundled up in their Hudson Bay coats and hoods and their faces are oiled to protect them from the biting winds.

This year, in many ways, has been an eventful one for the famous babies. One of the outstanding events, which didn't interest the quintuplets as it did the world, was a survey on the sisters by psychologists. In a lengthy report of their findings, scientists declared that the babies had overcome the handicap of premature birth and weight and slightly under normal height for their age.

Yvonne was ranked the highest were physically normal, of average in achievement. Cecile and Annette alternated for second place. Emilie deviated from fourth place to last while Marie was rated the lowest. The psychologists found the sisters were on a "identical set," but each had developed definite personality differences. However, they were found to be well adjusted to each other with few exceptions.

Dr. E. W. Blatz, one of the psychologists, said in the report, "One thing is certain, and that is that these children do not fit into a similar mold of personality development and that the variation manifested at this age is showing signs of wider divergence."

The report was made public last October 30.

Jimmie Fidler
...in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, December 21.—Call it tragedy, or comedy, as you choose—this story, under any name, is Hollywood. Six months ago a young fan magazine writer, as the result of an interview, struck up a friendship with a big star. The star suggested that they collaborate on a story. They did, and the stars studio wanting to keep him happy, bought the opus for $25,000. The star pocketed the check and, to pay off the writer, insisted that the studio should give him a contract at $250 a week. Very unwillingly, the studio agreed.

The ex-fan writer, chock full of pride (and who can blame him?) went about town gilding the lily. He talked about the $12,000 which he had received from the original sale. He spoke carelessly of his salary as $500 a week. And, then, out of the blue, swooped trouble. Creditors camped on his doorstep. An ex-wife sued for a split in the spoils—and got it. Relatives, hearing of his good fortune, swarmed in to live in a style to which they wished to become accustomed.

The $250-a-week salary melted away like a summer snowfall. The other day his contract ran out, and the studio—which had given him no chance to make good—declined to renew. The writer, now, is again scribbling for the fan magazines. Before his "good fortune," he had to kick the wolf from his door in order to get out. Now the wolf has moved into the living room.

And that, my friends, is Hollywood!

Never having seen her in a broadcasting station, can not vouch for the truth of the report, but radio technicians tell me that Joan Crawford has the worst case of microphone fright in Hollywood. According to the engineer who handled a recent show on which she appeared, Joan was too nervous to stand. They lowered the microphone, provided a chair for her and used a rack to hold her script steady. And even so, she struggled through only by a supreme effort of her will power. His story confirms the picture I have always had of Joan—a tremendous ambition at war with a natural desire for self-effacement. I remember her first speaking role for the screen. The director decided to take a big closeup of her. She played the scene well enough, but hardly had she uttered the first line when she toppled over in a dead faint and had to be sent home for the remainder of the day.

This time the laugh is on James Cagney. The other night, while we chatted in front of a Boulevard nightspot, a shift-eyed pan-handler sidled up and begged the usual dime. Cagney, a passionate champion of the underdog, dug deep and handed the man a bill. And as the derelict, mumbling his thanks, started down the street, he was colored a detective. Cagney went to his defense and launched a bitter attack on the "Cossack" tactics of American police in general. "Mr. Cagney, suppose you come along to the police station while we search this egg," suggested the policeman quietly. We went. And the "down-and-outer" had, tucked away in a dozen pockets, exactly $640!

This morning, while I waited for an interview with a studio big shot, I killed time by reading a world-wide box office survey—and made a discovery that surprised me. The Latin American countries where ninety-nine percent of the people are swarthy, prefer blondes. Alice Faye, the late Jean Harlow, Marlene Dietrich, Ginger Rogers, Constance Bennett and Grace Moore top the box-office ranking South of the Rio Grande. Sonja Henie is a great hit there. And in blonde Scandinavia, the gentlemen prefer dark hair—the darker the better. Dolores del Rio is the toast of

4-H CLUBS CELEBRATE NEW AWARDSStudents Strike

While students of Kalamazoo college staged a strike demanding his reinstatement, Dr. Carey K. Ganong, professor of economics at the Michigan school, is shown above as he discussed his request for a public airing of "inefficiency" charges upon which his dismissal was based.

COUNTY STAFF HIT BY FINES

Orange county courthouses employees have difficulty finding parking space for their cars and are being harassed by traffic fines for over-time parking, they informed the board of supervisors today in requesting provision for parking space, to replace the former parking lot that was recently closed. The board decided to seek such accommodations.

Report on Long Beach
Supervisor Harry D. Riley said he would like to see the employees' cars parked elsewhere, so that taxpayers transacting business at the courthouse could find some space "not occupied by employees who object to walking half a block."

CLUB HOLDS PARTY
GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 21.—Serving a Christmas dessert course early in the afternoon Mrs. Virginia Williams entertained members of the Happy Hour club at her home recently. After playing Hollywood bridge a gift exchange was held. Plans were made for a theatre party for members and their husbands in the near future.

The United States army put coats of arms into official use in 1919.

GROUPS GARNER MANY PRIZES AT L. A. SHOW

Members of Orange county 4-H clubs today were celebrating the receipt of awards which were granted them following the Great Western Livestock Show in the Los Angeles union stockyards, Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor, announced today.

Despite stronger competition than ever before, local members were awarded a good share of the prize money in the classes in which their animals competed.

Over $100 Received
The cash awards received by local members totaled over $100. Terry Wakeham of Garden Grove, was awarded a first for his fat Hereford steer, and third for showmanship.

In the poultry show, Bobby Haldeman of Anaheim, was awarded a second place for his Leghorn pullet, Joe Lieb Jr., of Anaheim, received one first, one second, and two fourth prizes for his entries of pigeons.

Swine Entries Rated
In the entries of hogs from Orange county, local members received one first award, four seconds, and one fourth. Charles Dault of La Habra was awarded 10th on showmanship. Claude Lewellen of Olive was awarded a second place in the cross-bred class of fat barrows and a second place for his pen of three fat barrows.

Charles Shoemaker of Tustin received a second and a fourth award for his fat Hampshire barrows, and ninth on showmanship. Robert Kettler of Anaheim received a first and a second place for his fine individual entries of Chester White fat barrows.

Before being judged, all animals not in perfect condition or over under the regulation weights, were eliminated from competition by a sifting committee.

Many From County
"Only half of the animals remaining in the show ring after eliminations were made, received prizes, so the number of prizes received by Orange county club members was very gratifying," Crane said.

About 100 members, leaders and parents visited the show. After inspecting exhibits of fine beef cattle, sheep and hogs in the morning, the members were given a free lunch at noon by the show officials.

Auction Interesting
The auction of prize winning livestock was particularly interesting to club members. Although the prices bid this year for prize stock were not as high as in 1936, they were all above market prices.

The grand champion lamb of the show brought $1.10 per pound, which is just about $100 for the animal. The grand junior champion hog raised by a 4-H member of Lemore, Roy Hulbert, was sold at auction for 23 cents a pound. Most

PIER, WAREHOUSE AT NEWPORT WASHED OUT BY 1892 STORM; OLD LANDMARKS ARE RECALLED

Editor's Note: Here is the fourth installment of an article of historic significance, written especially for The Register by Mrs. J. E. Pleasants, prominent Orange county resident. It tells of the battle with the elements in the early days of shipping from Newport harbor.

In the original construction, the piles were only sunk into the floor of the ocean to a depth of eight feet. In 1892 there came a tremendous storm that washed out 600 feet of the structure and almost wrecked it. It was repaired and rebuilt with piling which penetrated the bottom 15 feet. When the end of the pier was washed off, three Santa Fe flat cars as well as a small warehouse for sheltering freight went overboard.

The warehouse was washed ashore far enough on the beach to permit the salvaging of its contents, but no sooner than this was done than it was washed back into the sea and battered to pieces.

The three flat cars had an interesting history. One was washed ashore about four miles up the coast, another one near Twenty-third street. About 25 years later the third, in good condition, drifted up against the old piles of the Thirty-sixth street pier. The Santa Fe sent down and reclaimed it for exhibition purposes.

New Pier Success
The new pier on the ocean front was a great success. The first year 73 vessels unloaded their cargoes on its floors and frequently there were ships anchored waiting for an opportunity to unload. The warehouse was moved over from the old landing and several houses were moved in or new ones erected. The new location was called Newport to distinguish it from the old, and the nucleus of a new town was ready for growth.

John Sharp, who had run a hotel at San Juan point during the early boom days, moved over and was employed by the McFaddens, and his wife ran a boarding house. The old Sharp's hotel was a landmark for many years finally burning down.

With the increased commerce it was decided that a railroad to the beach was a necessity. Grading the road bed began in 1887, but the road was not completed until 1892. Up to this time lumber and merchandise was hauled by team. It is reported on good authority that in the early days ox teams were used to transport lumber from the old landing. The McFaddens bought about 1000 acres of swamp and overflow land from the state. This included the lands of Newport district as far west as Fortieth street and as far east as Ninth, taking in Lido and Balboa islands. In 1892, S. H. Finley plotted the townsite for them.

Built To Harper
The railroad, which paralleled Newport boulevard, was built from both ends. From the beach it was first built to Harper, now Costa Mesa. Four small flat cars were brought from San Diego and used of the hogs owned by local club members sold for 9 1-2 cents per pound, a premium of about one cent over the market.

CHECK REVEALS HIGH MARK FOR POSTAL INCOME

Postal receipts for last Saturday were the highest for any one day of the Christmas season that have been recorded for several years in the Santa Ana postoffice. Postmaster Frank Harwood announced today.

Receipts for last Saturday were $2,807, just exactly double the receipts of $1,403.50 collected for Dec. 18, 1936.

Harwood said that he expected receipts for the entire month to be far ahead of receipts for the same period last year. The yearly total already is in excess of the total for last year.

Time for Windows
Parcel post, stamp and general delivery windows will be open until 9 p. m. tonight and tomorrow to assist patrons who have last minute gifts and greeting cards to mail. The general delivery window will be open to accommodate persons who have been notified that there is a package awaiting them at the office.

Extra clerks have been added to the office personnel for the purpose of eliminating long lines of waiting customers at the various windows, this year, it was revealed today.

CLOSE-OUT NOW TO MEAN JUST THAT!

There shall no longer be business houses in Santa Ana which advertise "close-out" sales when the intent is not to "close out."

That was the decision of city council last night in giving final reading and adoption to an ordinance which was given first reading and adoption at a previous meeting. In the future, when a business firm advertises, "We are going out of business," the public can be assured of the fact, the firm is going out of business, councilmen said.

NAMES SPECIAL OFFICER

Upon informal recommendation of Police Chief Floyd W. Howard and other city officials, Louis J. Heffner was named a special police officer last night, to serve without pay. City council took the necessary action.

CHILDREN TO BE HONOR GUESTS

While an excellent program has been arranged to entertain the adults at 6 p. m. today at the annual Christmas party sponsored by Santa Ana Lodge of Elks, the real honor guests will be the children, according to Exalted Ruler Harold Brown.

"We expect approximately 600 lodge members, their wives and children to attend the affair," Brown said, "and of course the entertainment committee, headed by William W. Garvin, has left nothing undone that will add to their enjoyment but the big purpose will be entertaining the children."

Every adult who attends the party has been requested to bring a toy not to exceed 25 cents in value. These toys will be distributed to the children by Santa Claus when he arrives.

The party will start at 6 p. m. with a turkey dinner in the Elks clubhouse. Following the dinner a program of vaudeville acts, selected especially to amuse the children, will be presented.
The Elks Double quartet will entertain during the dinner.

Miss Spicer's Wedding Plans Are Announced

Added to the thrilling joys of pre-Christmas festivity for relatives and friends of Miss Katherine Spicer is the excitement in news of her betrothal to Arthur M. Flint of San Pedro, with the popular couple's wedding planned for April, 1938.

Two weekend parties were given to reveal the news to relatives of the bride-elect. Miss Spicer's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Becker, opened their home in Los Angeles for a dinner party Saturday night. An intimate family group assembled for the affair heard the first news of the wedding plans. The engaged girl displayed her lovely diamond ring.

Sunday Affair
Sunday evening brought a gayly-appointed dinner in the home of Miss Spicer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin H. Spicer, 2415 North Main street. Mrs. Spicer wore navy blue figured crepe with gardenias; Mr. Flint's mother, Mrs. John Pederson of San Pedro, wore a rust-hued frock with gardenias and the bride-to-be was in Kelly green faille with a corsage cluster of Taisman roses centered with a gardenia.

Mrs. Spicer and her daughters, the Misses Eunice and Dorothy Spicer, carried out plans for the affair. Poinsettias, red tapers and festoons of cotoonaster were in keeping with a seasonal motif evidences in all appointments.

Dinner was served at a large table whose placecards gave prominence to the names of the engaged pair, together with the month chosen for their wedding.

In the group with Miss Katherine Spicer and Arthur Flint were Mr. and Mrs. Erwin H. Spicer, Miss Dorothy, Miss Eunice, Edgar and W. Barney Spicer of the home; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spicer and daughters and son, Harriet, Carolyn and Walter; Mr. and Mrs. John Pederson of San Pedro; Miss Minnie Spicer, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Van Cleave and children, Florence, Virginia Lou and Harlan of Pomona.

Miss Spicer, a graduate of Santa Ana High school, attended junior college where she was prominent in Las Meninas, Tavern Tattlers and other campus groups. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority and of Wrynede Maedenu club. For the past few years she has been employed in the trust department of First National Bank.

Mr. Flint is in the personnel department of the Shell Oil company in Los Angeles.

Traditions Upheld as Beta Sigma Phi Has Christmas Party

It has come to be an accepted fact that at least one member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will announce her engagement at the annual holiday party, so it was not as much with surprise as with excitement that members of Sigma chapter learned last night of the betrothal of Miss Katherine Spicer and Arthur M. Flint of San Pedro.

Quite according to custom in every way was the delightful party, for Mrs. John Tessmann has entertained the group each Christmas in similar fashion, receiving in her home, 309 East Seventeenth street as she did on this occasion.

Hostesses were Mrs. Tessmann and Mrs. F. E. Coulter, both of whom are honorary members of the sorority. Shortly after their arrival, guests enjoyed a session of Christmas carol singing. Mrs. Tessmann contributed to the program by playing his sister, and by telling of Christmas in his native Germany. Gifts were exchanged.

April Weddings
Presentation of a box of chocolates to the sorority came as a climaxing feature, with Miss Spicer as the donor. She displayed her pretty diamond ring at this time. The Flint-Spicer wedding will take place in April, the same month as has been chosen for the marriage of the chapter president, Miss Elsie Siemsen and Daniel Jones. Miss Spicer is a past president of the chapter.

Cotoonaster and tall green tapers formed a background for other holiday appointments. Mrs. Newell Moore poured, and Miss Elsie Siemsen served the cream rounds and the dessert course. Fruit cake, bonbons and other dainties were served from a table gleaming with silver, and centered with green and silver balls lighted by green tapers. An effective arrangement on the buffet centered around sparkling red glassware.

Varied Programs
Last night's affair marked the end of the second third of the sorority year. Speakers during this time have included C. W. Hippard of Chandler's Furniture store; Mrs. Evadna K. Perry, on "Art in Every Day Life"; Miss Beulah May, "Color in the Home"; Miss Ruth Stephenson, "The Orient"; Miss Virginia Ballard of Santa Barbara, "Around the World Travel".

Parties in the form of Sunday night suppers have been enjoyed. One of the most recent of these was given by the Misses Lena May Wilsey, Jean Emma and Isabel Siracus, at the D. Eymann Huff ranch home. The chapter's Christmas charity project was completed at this time.

Present last night were Mrs. Tessmann, Mrs. Coulter, with the Misses Jean Emma, Mary Ford, Lily Forsberg, Marie La Brucherie, Hazel Lee, Dorothy Lindgren, Delphina Lopez, Lillian McDonald, Elsie Siemsen, Isabel Siracus, Katherine Spicer, Eunice Spicer, Ruth Stephenson, Mary Louise Wallace, Lena May Wilsey, Lois Taylor, Kathesine Chapman, Margaret Wilson, Catherine Walbridge, Mesdames Donald Rubeau, Robert Callis, Sam Cash, William Long, Jesse Parks and Robert Windolph.

Recent Arrival Welcomes Baby Cousin
Young Terry Elliott Stephenson (Santa Ana's "Terry the Third") has a new cousin, named Thomas Rowland Cargile. Word has reached the Terry Stephensons Jr., 326 Lacy street, of the birth to Mr. and Mrs. Wade Cargile of Tulsa, Okla., of a little son on Saturday, December 18.

Mrs. Cargile was Miss Jeanne Rowland of this city, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Elliott Rowland, now of San Bernardino. Mrs. Rowland, who was here with her daughter, Mrs. Stephenson (Betty Rowland) when Terry III made his advent on November 30, continued on to Tulsa to be with her other daughter. She plans to remain in the Oklahoma city until early February.

Master Thomas Rowland Cargile perpetuates a family name just as does his little Santa Ana Cousin. For he was named for both Mr. Cargile's father and Mrs. Cargile's paternal grandfather, the late Thomas Rowland of this city.

SUNDAY BREAKFAST
A pleasantly informal hospitality of Sunday morning was the gay little breakfast at which Mrs. J. F. Willis entertained a few friends in her home, 106 North Birch street.

The Misses Virginia Waters, Jay Von Hall, Nedra Montgomery and Lenore McParren comprised the guest group, who joining their hostess in attending morning church services, accompanied her home for a tempting breakfast. Table appointments carried the holiday theme, expressed by the prettily decorated tree and other colorful decorations of the home.

Assistance League Closes Eventful Year With Party

As members of Assistance League of Santa Ana shared Christmas joys yesterday in the Tustin home of Mrs. Lyman Farwell, they combined a gala affair with completion of plans for their extensive Yuletide charity project. This marked the close of a year which has been so satisfying in view of work accomplished, that it is with warm enthusiasm that League members anticipate a new season of activity.

Newly-wedded Couple Embark for Boat Trip East

When Mr. and Mrs. Weston Finley Sprague sailed Sunday on the S. S. Pennsylvania for New York City, they took with them the memories of their beautiful wedding December 16, of a short honeymoon trip to Palm Springs and of bon voyage parties which marked the busy weekend.

Mr. Sprague and his bride, the former Miss Marjorie Lindsay, spent Thursday at Riverside. Miss Sprague is continuing to Palm Springs the next day. They returned to Santa Ana Saturday, and that night were feted at a dinner in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague, 1920 Victoria Drive.

In the dinner group with the hosts and their son and daughter-in-law were another son, Clarence Sprague; the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kenneth Lindsay, and daughter Sharon of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. John Tessmann.

The same group was assembled Sunday for dinner at which the Lasbys were hosts. Continuing to Wilmington, the merry party was joined by other Santa Anans bidding the newly-wedded pair bon voyage. They included Mr. and Mrs. Will J. Lindsay and the Misses Marian Hawk, Martha Tuthill and Jane Crawford. The bridegroom's grandmother and an aunt, Mrs. McBride and Miss Bernice McBride of Los Angeles, were others attending. Forming another group of merry-makers boarding the S. S. Pennsylvania were former Pomona college classmates of Mr. Sprague.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Sprague will make their home in Boston Mass., while the bridegroom attends Harvard School of Business Administration.

Sigma Tau Psi Gives Dinner Dance for New Members

Sigma Tau Psi sorority's commitment to its two new members, the Misses Ruth Mary Reichstein and May Hibbert was a formal dinner dance Saturday night at Los Angeles Biltmore Bowl following a party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Anderson, 124 Owens Drive.

Dinner tables where the sorority members and their guests assembled at the Bowl were decorated in the organization's colors of green and yellow. Bracelets were presented to Miss Reichstein and Miss Hibbert.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames Eugene Anderson, Don Harrison, Max Wilson; the Misses Betty Marston, Fern Berkner, Charlotte Barker, Genevieve Glover, Jane Hill, Eleanor Evans, Dorothy Skinner, Jean Berry and a pledge, Miss Lois May Stockton; Messrs. Tom Dinkins, Bry Marston, John Knox, Bob Schilling, Paul Beckman, Delbert Tucker, Howard Richards, Cloyce Pervis, Dr. McCane and Floyd Glenn.

Supper Marks Couple's Third Anniversary
Although a supper party at which Mr. and Mrs. Carl Geisert entertained late last week came in celebration of their third wedding anniversary, the affair marked just two years since announcement of the young couple's marriage was made.

It was on December 22, 1934, that Miss Dorothy V. E. Thorpe and Mr. Geisert motored to Yuma, Ariz., to be married, deferring the announcement of the nuptials for exactly one year.

Their home at 1417 Orange avenue was scene of the recent festivity. A group of young married couples from neighboring points shared spaghetti supper. In the evening's game of buncs, Mrs. L. S. Baldrige and Gerald Southwick scored high and low.

A final hospitable feature was the serving of coffee with fruit cakes baked in orange shells. Mrs. C. M. Thorpe assisted her daughter, Mrs. Geisert at this time. Present with Mrs. Thorpe and Mr. Geisert were their young son, Jerry Lee, were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hoots, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Rumbaugh, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Shelley, Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Standridge, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Southwick, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Baldrige and daughter, Dione, Los Angeles.

Arriving at the Farwell home, league members were surprised to find that the hostesses, the president, Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, Mrs. E. D. White and Mrs. Farwell, had planned the affair as a special Christmas party, the first ever shared by members of the organization. The trio had chosen a beautifully appointed breakfast as a medium of entertaining.

In the reception hall a miniature fountain with sparkling spray had been arranged. There were quantities of greenery to provide an appropriate background for the many home adornments bespeaking the beauty of the season. Six large red tapers set in low candlesticks gleamed on the mantel, which was banked with pine cones. As a lighted Christmas tree revolved slowly on its pedestal, the tinkling notes of a music box were heard.

Many league members found places at the long dining table, at which Mrs. Farwell's mother, Mrs. Leonard Swales presided. A pansy ring filled with Christmas balls alternating with tiny white cherubs, and a Madonna figure. Red glassware and service plates conformed to the holiday motif.

Card tables set up in other rooms of the home were reflecting with small blue mirrors reflecting lighted red tapers and stars of Bethlehem. Three-course breakfast was served.

Small baskets and bowls in Italian design rewarded high scorers at each table of bridge. Winners were Mesdames Howard Rapp, Z. West, Ray Chandler, Dexter Tall, H. T. Dunning, R. C. Hoiles and C. Mortimer Plum.

Various Projects
In addition to their hospital project and to the Christmas charity work which they are completing now, league members are giving time to other community ventures, it was pointed out today. In line with their policy to step in and do good wherever they can, they have aided Orange County Tuberculosis association by operating the booth at the corner of Fourth and Main street.

The league will hold its first meeting of the new year Monday, January 2, in the home of Miss James Irvine, San Joaquin Rancho. Since Mrs. Irvine is founder of the ambitious organization, it seems especially appropriate that the first session of 1937 should be held in her home. Mrs. Leonard Swales will be hostess.

New President Named By Pi Sigma Club

Coming at the close of a successful year for Pi Sigma club was a Christmas meeting last week in the home of Miss Phyllis Hefke, 921 Highland street, where election and other features were on the program. Miss Florence Wasson is the new president.

Identity of "secret pals" was revealed during exchange of gifts around the large Christmas tree in the living room. Christmas tree cookies served as favors during the pleasant interval when guests found places at a table glowing with red tapers.

In the group were Miss Mildred Flier, home from her studies at U. C. L. A.; Miss Dorothy Carlson, retiring president, and the Misses Letitia Morgan, Eloise Schrier, Audrey McDonald, Betty Niedergall, Mildred Pearson, Nadine Pennington, Fern Anderson, Charlotte McCausland, Lorraine Wheeler, Phyllis Hefke, Florence Wasson and Mrs. Garth Olson.

Only absent member of the club was Miss Charles Miller, who is at St. Joseph hospital recuperating from an appendectomy which she underwent recently.

Osteopaths of County Assemble For Dinner, Program

When Orange County Osteopathic association and its Women's Auxiliary joined in holding a holiday party Saturday night, members enjoyed a dinner and a program highlighted by a talk by Dr. Evangelina Percival of Los Angeles. Dr. and Mrs. Horace Leeling opened their home on North Flower street to the group. Dinner was served buffet style with members finding places at small tables centered with holly wreaths fashioned by Miss Julia Magill. Gifts for an exchange were piled at the base of a Christmas tree, to whose glow was added that of candles in the windows.

Mrs. Ralph Hoard (Jean Baldwin) of Balboa sang solos. Dr. Percival, who is a member of the staff of Los Angeles Osteopathic college, talked on "Child Welfare."

Gala Party is Sequel To Double Quartet Rehearsal

One of the recent rehearsals of the popular Elks' Double Quartet grew into a party of quite generous proportions, as the result of a friendly conspiracy on the part of the quartet director, Miss Ruth Armstrong, and wives of the members. Rehearsal was as usual, at the Elks club, so there the party found setting as well.

It was an evening of music, for the singers gave a succession of new choruses which they have not yet sung publicly, and which were largely Miss Armstrong's arrangements. They also sang different numbers by request, until the affair took on the aspect of a delightful musicale.

Social features included a refreshment interval, the wives having aided Miss Armstrong in plans for this feature as well. A Christmas setting was afforded by the decorated tree which is part of the club's Yule appointments, and many flaming red tapers. This was an appropriate background for a surprise feature when the men presented Miss Armstrong with a handsome electric clock for her room. A second surprise was afforded by Dr. and Mrs. K. H. Sutherland, who revealed that the party was doubly interesting to them, since it fell on their thirtieth wedding anniversary.

Dr. Sutherland's parents and his aunt, the Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Sutherland of this city, and Mrs. Belle Crowe of Salem, Ind., shared the gala evening, as did Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Miller, parents of another quartet member, John Miller, and also his son, Robert Miller, with Harold Brown, exalted ruler of the Elks, and Mrs. Brown, the Charles Bresslers who attended the Elks convention in Denver with them.

Chat 'n' Seau Members Enjoy Gay Surprises

Time and distance were both bridged for Chat 'N' Seau members last night at their Christmas dinner in the Frank C. Hammett home on East Fourth street at Tustin avenue, when members reverted to girlhood days when their club was organized more than two decades ago.

This served to bridge the years, but the distance from Tampa, Fla. in one direction and from Seattle, Wash. in another, was successfully nullified by the two absent members of the group, Mrs. Harold Nelson (Helen McNeill) of Tampa, and Mrs. R. K. Gilson (Grace White) of Seattle. For each had sent gifts for the exchange, and additional surprise gifts for the club, including a great box of candy from Mr. and Mrs. Gilson. Furthermore just as the party guests completed writing telegrams of greetings to the two absentees, a long distance telephone call came from Mr. and Mrs. Gilson, expressing their Yule wishes to the group.

Mrs. Hammett's home was a delightful Christmas scene. A brilliant tree in the living room was complemented by wreaths and bows of poinsettias. The table where the holiday menu was served, bore a low bowl of red berries shrouded amidst which tiny lights flashed off and on, the whole charming effect repeated in a mirror plateau. On the deep buffet against a blue cellophane sky, was pictured a snow scene in complete detail.

Exchange of gifts was the most exciting event after the long distance conversation and the dispatched telegrams. Chat 'N' Seau members are anticipating in 1938, the celebration of a silver anniversary. Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Gilson, who were present in spirit last night, complete an unbroken chain with Mrs. Hammett, Mrs. Claude Sleeper, Mrs. Warren Hillyard, Mrs. Fred Merker, Mrs. Carl Edgar, Mrs. Leon Dickey, Mrs. J. A. Gajewski, Miss Gertrude Potts, Mrs. Harvey Gardner and Mrs. Walter Gerken.

The quartet when it won national honors. Miss Berta Armstrong, Mrs. Minnie Baxter and Mrs. Frances Tedford, sisters of the director, with Miss Armstrong and the quartet members and their wives, Dr. and Mrs. Sutherland, Messrs. and Mesdames Alex Garro-way, Lyle Anderson, Fitzhugh Gibbs, Willard Bassett, Hugh Runnells, Walter Vieira and John Miller.

Trickey-Moore Rites Take Place in Local Wedding Home

Two well known Santa Anans, Miss Florence Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Moore, 1214 Lacy street, and Clarence V. Trickey, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Trickey, 1009 West Walnut street, exchanged vows yesterday morning in Santa Ana Wedding Home.

All details of the rites were carried out with charm and simplicity in a holiday setting to which Christmas trees, clusters of poinsettias and chrysanthemums added their beauty. Officiating minister was the Rev. W. S. McDougall, resident pastor at the home, and a long-time friend of the bridegroom and his family.

A little circle of relatives and close friends attended the rites. The pretty pink silk frock which the bride wore for her marriage was changed for a tailored blue suit later in the day when the new Mr. and Mrs. Trickey left for Kentucky to spend the holidays with relatives.

Eighty members and guests were present for the annual Christmas banquet at which Women's Auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical union entertained Saturday night in M. W. A. hall, where dinner was served by Woman's Service club. Gifts were exchanged.

Mrs. E. W. Ellis had planned the attractive red and silver decorations which graced the U shaped tables. Others on the committee in charge were Mrs. J. W. Parkinson, Mrs. V. C. Shidler, Mrs. Carl Fisher and Miss Betty Johnson.

George Duke, program chairman, had arranged varied entertainment. His two little daughters, the Misses Suzanne and Dianne Duke, played piano numbers, as did their cousin, Miss Nancy Lee Germany. She also sang selections.

O. K. Maxwell sang; the Misses Betty Shidler and Eleanor Lawrence gave a vocal duet; Miss Maurine Waters did a tap dance; Fred Germany sang; Mr. Duke gave a vocal solo and Mr. and Mrs. Germany sang a duo number.

So that relatives and friends will have an opportunity to greet the bridegroom and bride during the short time that they are in the Southland, the Greenwood home will be scene of an open house affair Thursday evening between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Eustis and Mrs. E. E. Eustis formed a group of local residents going north for the ceremony, which took place Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Stanford University Memorial chapel.

The bride's sister, Miss Joanne Shubunka was maid of honor. Best man was Glen Eustis, former Tustin Union High school classmate of Mr. Greenwood, both having graduated in 1931. The bridegroom, a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, was graduate from Stanford university with the class of 1935. His bride, with her family, came to San Francisco from New York several years ago.

Our Children

BY ANGELO PATRI

HOW TO BE HAPPY

Lucille, in her junior year in high school, writes to tell me that she is very unhappy. Things are set against her. She stands high in classes, but what of it when she has to wear cheap dresses and make them last a long time? She cannot have manicures and permanent hair. Nor go to many movies. There is no living-room in her house and she cannot invite other young people. And they wouldn't come anyway because they don't like her. And the teachers don't like her either. They praise her for good marks, but they never call her a pet name and pat her on the back as she goes by as they do to other girls. And her father and mother are not stylish. They talk English with an accent, and they wear their clothes badly, such as they have. Lucille is deeply unhappy about it and wants a way out.

To all the Lucille's and David's who are in the same boat I would say that the way to be happy is to be happy, and I'm not being "smart" about it. I remember very well how I felt when a boy laughed at my new overcoat, made out of an old one turned inside out. It looked fine, but the button holes were on the wrong side, you see, and that was very funny. I was mad and offered to punch his nose. I felt pretty bad and it took all the loving encouragement my mother could give me to get me to wear it again. And I did wear it, and went on about my business. I had to.

That is what I mean. Get busy. Instead of brooding about what you can't have, like what you have. You can if you understand about the things you have. If you remember how hard your father and mother work to help you, to give you what will make you stronger, happier, more successful materially than they are; if you just remember how much love and devotion went into giving you the things you have, you will like them. You will love them.

The secret of glowing happiness is the power to look away from yourself toward other people. When you begin to feel cheated look to see what you can do to help somebody else close to you. Maybe an errand, a little help, a smiling word of appreciation—you have no idea how much your teachers will appreciate that word—nor how much your school mates will thank you for it—anything to drive your self out into the lives of others in terms of service. Whom you serve you love—whom you love you serve—and there lies the greatest happiness.

Your mental attitude is what makes for happiness or grief. I know that you cannot always help that attitude, but you can try hard to overcome any shadow that falls upon you. You can keep pushing out any grudging thought, any hint of self-pity, any suggestion of inferiority. Remember that in every human being there is a spark of divine power and beauty and that you are no exception. You will smother the spark by bemoaning your fate. You will fan it into flame by holding out your hands to the friendly people about you.

Health of body is essential to happiness. Attend to that first. It is a simple routine matter and you know all about it. Sleep, bathe, exercise, work, play and keep guarding your thoughts against self-pity. Then you will never have to think how you can be happy. You will be the happiest person abroad.

IF DEPUTY HALL SAYS HE IS A BLOOD HOUND, WELL, HE IS!

Deputy Sheriff Grace Hall was "go in for" scientific police detection in a "big way" today. At least she's added a "blood-hound" to the sheriff's office force.

That was revealed today. Well, anyhow, a "blood-hound" has been deputized and added to the force of deputies now serving under Sheriff Logan Jackson. Take it from Deputy Hall.

Actually, Deputy Hall owns the "blood-hound." He's a cross between a Pekinese and Scottie, she admits, but he's a "blood-hound" anyhow. He first came to Bill Young, deputy jailer; he couldn't find a good place to keep him, gave him to Deputy Hall.

Uncertain, But Then!
"I wasn't very certain that my parents would like to keep the dog at home for me, but I tried 'em out," said Miss Hall. "But who's ever seen a puppy that couldn't draw crowds? The folks certainly have tumbled—in his favor."

The "pup" is several weeks old now, likes to play, likes "company." Miss Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Berlin E. Hall, 831 North Garvey, have admitted they like "company," too. They added that the "company" they like includes the tiny, deputized "blood-hound."

"Blood-hound?" echoed Miss Hall to inquiring deputies. "Well, I think he's a blood-hound, anyhow. You may think what you will!"

The partnership began in November of 1925, and in January, 1926 the Coast Royal project was begun. Mr. Seamans had handled thousands of acres of Orange county property on the real estate market. At one time, also, he was a partner of L. J. Carden, Santa Ana realtor.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Minnie A. Seamans, Santa Ana; two daughters, Mrs. Frankie Baird, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Mary A. Elliott, Orange; a brother, Bert B. Seamans, Santa Ana, and three grandchildren, James, Charles and William Elliott, Santa Ana.

Bert B. Seamans was an employee of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad for many years.

DRIVE CAREFULLY - SAVE A LIFE -

REFUGE FOR INDIANS

There is a measure of real justice in the recent government order marking off 5,000,000 acres of western land as a "last frontier" where the Indian may go it on his own without the slightest interference from white men.

The lands involved are to be barred to paved roads, and motor traffic is to be prohibited. The man who wants to go in will have to go on foot or on horseback.

This is no more than fair. A culture like that of the Indians cannot exist if it rubs elbows constantly with a motorized, mechanized civilization like ours. We have room enough in this country to permit some of our red-skinned wards to have a place of their own, safe from the encroachments of tourists, traders and general busy-bodies.

HOPING FOR THE BEST

There are growing indications that the federal government may call a truce in its war on the private utility industry. The fact that the electric utilities, if given reasonable assurance that they will not be saddled further with confiscatory taxes, punitive regulation or driven out of business by government competition, could be a tremendous influence in curbing the recession, seems finally to have permeated the halls of congress. However, to date there has been no concrete action, in spite of the new attitude of compassion. And after half a decade of merciless political attack it will take more than a few words of half-hearted conciliation to snap the utility industry out of the doldrums.

As has been pointed out, if the truce is genuine, the first form that congressional action should take is the stoppage of further direct competition by government with its citizens. Second, it should compel true accounting of existing public power operations. Third, it should stop promoting and subsidizing public ownership and operation. Billions of dollars of utility construction and expansion, and thousands of jobs are awaiting such action. Will it be taken? Is the truce genuine, and permanent? One wonders—and hopes for the best.

REAL CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

It's not a very difficult task to feel the Christmas spirit in the air these days, but the Santa Ana women who sold Christmas Seals on the streets for the Junior Ebell club came in contact with the real thing.

Many and many are the tales these young women tell. The real spirit of giving was presented to them so concretely and so impressively that they were amazed.

One of these women tells of a poorly clad little urchin buying five cents worth of stamps. Another little girl said she had saved 15 cents from her Christmas shopping and wanted to buy stamps "because they do so much good." Two little Mexican children grimly clasping five pennies and a dime contributed their all to aid their less fortunate ones.

One woman who was so badly crippled that she couldn't put a pin on her lapel bought 25 stamps.

So it went, the little tots spending their pennies and the prosperous merchant buying 500 stamps. The poor and hungry rubbed elbows with the rich and warmly clad. The lame and the halt added their mite with the healthy and strong. All imbued with the Christmas spirit. All seeking to aid.

Truly this is the real Christmas spirit.

SANTA ANA LEADS IN SALES

Figures released this week by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce, reveals that Santa Ana in October lead the entire state in gains in total retail sales of independent stores over the corresponding month last year.

Twenty-one Santa Ana stores reporting to the Department of Commerce showed a percentage gain of 18.3 while Berkeley was second with 18.2.

Retail sales of 1670 independent stores in the state, when adjusted for the number of working days in October, showed an increase of five per cent in dollar volume. Without adjustment for the extra working day in October of last year, there was an increase of one per cent.

Santa Ana and Berkeley reported the greatest gains in total sales, followed by San Jose with a gain of 12 per cent. Other changes for the cities shown ranged down to the 10 per cent loss reported for Long Beach. Sales in cities with populations of 2500 to 5000 and 10,000 to 25,000 showed the greatest increases over October 1936 with gains of 14 per cent, followed by cities of 25,000 to 50,000 with a gain of nine and one-half per cent.

The motor vehicle dealers over the state reported the greatest gain in business with filling stations, combination meat and grocery stores, drugs and restaurants following in the order named. Lumber and building material dealers reported the heaviest loss of business.

No record day by day;

The sands move not for those who, loyal,

hearted,

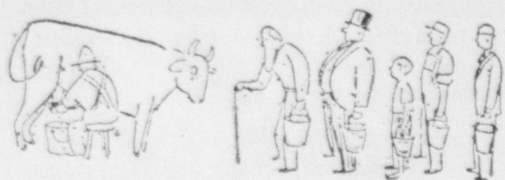

Friendship's firm laws obey.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

Fruits of Private Capital

WHO GETS THE FRUITS OF PRIVATE CAPITALISM?

Of course, there are some who, through good fortune or extra ability, get more out of any system than others do. Under state capitalism there are leaders and sub-leaders who have extra pay and extra privileges—often giving them power far greater than any power in the hands of private capitalists. In Russia, for instance, the few available cars and radios and telephones are apt to be in the hands of the "officials."

The real test of an economic system is: HOW MANY PEOPLE SHARE ITS BENEFITS—AND HOW BIG ARE THE INDIVIDUAL BENEFITS? Through the courtesy of J. Walter Thompson company.

EVERY PARENT INTERESTED

Of course, every parent wants and expects his children to be wisely trained at school. The parents expect those who select the text books on social problems to have the moral courage of their convictions and not to be driven by teaching ONLY for pay and who refuse to check the theories taught in the text books with the parents of their representatives.

Many good citizens have assumed there was nothing they could do about the quality of the public schools.

As we understand the laws in California, the board of education has complete control as to what the students are taught on social questions with inconsequential limitation of the state board of education. For this reason, it would seem that it becomes the duty of a newspaper to save the time of its busy readers who want to do everything they can to properly train the children, and to give these readers a digest of the controversial questions on political and economic subjects taught in the schools so that the parents and voters can intelligently give their approval or disapproval.

What is the Reason

If those in charge of the social science department in the schools refuse to talk frankly to the representative of the people on subjects in which the parents are deeply interested, as to what the text books are teaching the children, there must be some reason. It would seem that if they understand what they are teaching they could answer questions pertaining to these principles without contradicting themselves and thus proving they are not informed on the subject, or they are teaching the children things which they do not feel would meet with the approval of the parents.

A man who is informed on his subjects invariably is willing to discuss them and only too anxious to have any step which seems inconsistent pointed out and if he cannot explain it, then he is willing to concede that his whole scheme or plan is simply drivell.

And the parents of the pupils who are really interested in the education of their children are the kind of people who are usually willing to discuss important social questions openly and they are usually not the kind of people who are repeatedly contradicting themselves.

RUSSIA GRADUALLY CHANGING

An article in the Saturday Evening Post, "Hunting Gold for Stalin," written by a mining engineer, describes some very interesting changes taking place in Russia. He tells about a representative of the Russian government going all the way to Alaska to persuade him to come to Russia.

When he introduced the representative to the superintendent of one of the Alaska mines, the Russian representative could not believe that an efficient superintendent would be working in dirty clothes, and it seemed very strange to him when the superintendent sat down and ate with the workers.

When the engineer was put in charge of a new gold mine in Russia which they were to develop, he found the output very low. When he wanted figures to show the cost, the Russian formerly in charge said they did not need them because if one project lost money, it was made up by another. But the American engineer insisted on knowing the cost. He found that the workers were very inefficient because they had no interest in the project, being paid practically equally as to needs.

Piece Work

He finally persuaded them to pay in proportion to production. This greatly increased production and developed output. In 1929 the Russian government ruled that there should be no private gold prospecting. This resulted in there not being enough new mines found. So in 1933 they revised their order and permitted private prospecting.

Now, the author says, a prospector, who is successful, can make as much in one year as a skilled workman could previously make in a hundred years. So Russia is gradually changing from the idea that people should be paid in proportion to needs to reward them in proportion to what they produce. They are now getting results.

PRIMARY CAUSE OF LOW WAGES

The primary cause of low wages is the belief that the spender helps raise wages; that if he would dissipate wealth, that would be beneficial to the workers.

That machines cause unemployment.

That there is a limited amount of work to be done, therefore the hours that a man desires to work should be limited.

Jingo Bells! Jingo Bells!

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

NEW YORK CITY—Yesterday I wrote about General Pershing's war record. By many requests, this column explains why this noted fighter of murderous Moro dates didn't bring 'em back alive when he raced into Chihuahua after Villa and his marauding henchmen. Smashing under the aid we gave Carranza to defeat him in Sonora, and hoping to bring about intervention, Villa with 600 Dorados suddenly descended on Columbus, New Mexico, burning, murdering, robbing and ravaging.

The weakened and surprised garrison finally rallied, drove him out, pursued him into Mexico until their ammunition gave out and then returned. Villa retired only a day's march and waited for about a week, in a defensive position, for the battle that would bring war.

Pursuit in force was delayed for nearly two weeks for assembling of troops and supplies and in wrangling with Carranza, who later claimed he never consented to our punitive expedition which was finally formed under command of Brig. General "Black Jack" Pershing.

He was not permitted to use the railroad from El Paso to Colonia Dublan by which he could have cut Villa off. Under an old treaty permitting pursuit of "barbarians on a hot trail," he had to follow Villa's pony tracks.

In the meantime, Villa in disguise, assuming there would be no pursuit, started toward his native Durango, disbanding slowly as he went and amusing himself by taking pot shots at the Carranzista garrisons he passed. In this pastime, at Guerro, he was wounded by a spent Carranza bullet. At that very moment distant horsemen, whom he thought were the now stragglers, proved to be the advance guard of Custer's old regiment, the 7th Cavalry under Doodds.

Screaming with pain, Villa beat it in a buckboard gulping gun and attempting suicide with bichloride—our cavalry so close that they found his warm bloody bandages.

Suddenly the trail disappeared. Pershing's troops in parallel columns streamed south in the most remarkable of cavalry marching records. High on a hillside, in an adobe hut, Villa, with a Japanese surgeon from the Imperial army who acted also as chief of staff—watched them go!

After days of futile bush-beating and several skirmishes with Carranza troops, Pershing concentrated his utterly exhausted troops in garrisons, deep in Mexico. Though he didn't at first know it, the wounded Villa was within his lines.

Tremendous international forces, never yet clearly explained, were moving under the surface in mid-1918. Germany wanted to embroil us with Mexico to keep us busy at home. Carranza began concentrating his troops threateningly on Pershing's 600-mile line of communications. A disastrous clash occurred at Carrizal. Two troops of our cavalry were smashed and scattered by Mexican troops. Pershing promptly prepared to march on Chihuahua. War hung in the balance.

Suddenly Pershing received the most remarkable orders ever given a field general. Regardless of his reputation or his place in history, he was to stay in hostile country, attacked and threatened daily—but he was not to strike back. It was his job to occupy but not to fight. There must be no war.

Pershing's skill in carrying out these stultifying orders and his grim suppression of them—then and through all his life thereafter, is unequalled in military annals. The catastrophe of this drama is even more poignant. While all this developed, Villa's Japanese chief of staff turned spy and traitor—or maybe Japan so ordered. He came to our headquarters and revealed the exact covert of Pershing's wounded quarry—not four hours march away—and also the caches of Villa's arms and treasure.

I do not know the diplomatic or strategic reasons, or what effect avoiding a Mexican war then had on our sending troops to France within a year—but I know Pershing didn't take Villa when he could have been taken any night and that Pershing's intense loyalty, obedience and skill under the fire of this incredible test made him "General of the Armies." It was not, as recent detractors have said, political pull.

Editor Register:

The New Deal policies of regimentation and the free development of industry are in conflict. The trouble is that New Dealism is wholly inconsistent with the Americanism that has made this great country a land of plenty, the most prosperous and progressive in the world. It's marvelous development of resources, of industry and of material plenty has been realized by giving full way to the competitive system. It has been due to the free exercise of the native ability of a dynamic, resourceful people.

Private property dare not be nationalized. In our character growth private property is an important factor. It is a necessary requirement for the development of consecrated stewardship. By his divine command "Thou shalt not steal." The Lord of host has stamped private property with His approval. The Constitution reiterates this divine sovereign command in its laws and regulations making it a potent safeguard of freedom. Henceless scrapping that unique document is a dangerous thing. All honor to the senators and champions who had the courage of standing pat in upholding its principles and regulations.

Until the Roosevelt administration our government functioned as an umpire; since then it has shifted its functioning to regimentation and dictatorship. Must we be told what to sow and what to reap? Should a land of plenty be converted into a land of scarcity by halting production and importing the very things that have been ruthlessly destroyed.

For the last century and a half private initiative and free enterprise have been the very mother of plenty. This is the natural way, the sound and normal procedure of economic development. It is the American way of doing things. Why not return to the methods that have proved a success.

Why continue this un-American way of government regimentation of creating class hatred to the extent that strikes, confusion and chaos have gone on a rampage throughout our land.

This is the season of peace and good will. When "the Word" became flesh and dwelt among us." In Him is the hope of a world filled with unrest and confusion.

We, The People

By JAY FRANKLIN

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Shortly after the nomination of Alfred M. Landon for the Presidency of the United States, it seems that Mr. Alfred P. Sloan, head of General Motors, was assailed by quails of a philanthropic nature. At any rate, under the elastic laws of the DuPont state of Delaware, he set up the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, with a $10,000,000 endowment consisting largely of 100,000 shares of stock in General Motors, under the temporary direction of his own brother.

Since Mr. Sloan is one of those "economic royalists" who have been highly critical of the tax-policies of the New Deal, there will be a disposition among New Dealers to look this gift-horse in the mouth. Particularly is this true, since the related announcement of his charity follows so closely on the decision of the Board of Tax Appeals in favor of some of the late Andrew Mellon's hey-presto tax-shifting methods. Has Mr. Sloan, then, simply incorporated the publicity department of General Motors as a tax-proof form of philanthropy?

This question will be asked by all who study the announced aims of The Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, which desires to inculcate sound economic principles and historic American traditions in respect to business enterprise. As I recall, the Liberty League announced a somewhat similar purpose and was, like General Motors, largely a DuPont family affair.

These unworthy suspicions will persist, but I for one reserve my judgment. It is true that the permanent possession of 100,000 shares of General Motors may tend to tie the hands of the Foundation. Suppose that "sound economic principles" should be found to doom General Motors to extinction, would the Foundation turn and rend the source of its own income?

That problem fortunately lies in the future. The Alfred P. Sloan Foundation has an immediate and pressing task ahead of it. The greatest need for education in sound economic principles and historic American business traditions lies in Wall Street, among the DuPonts and the representatives of heavy industry in general.

The men need to be taught that there is no way in which people can pay more money than they get, in return for the things which industry produces. They need to

The Family Doctor

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, Health Magazine

QUIET, RESTFUL ATMOSPHERE IS URGED FOR CONVULSIVE DISORDER SUFFERERS

This is the eleventh in a series in which Dr. Fishbein discusses cause, effect and treatment of diseases of the nervous system.

Once epilepsy is definitely diagnosed, the care given to the person concerned is of the most importance in regulating the number of attacks and the general health of the individual concerned.

When the attack comes there may be danger of life as well as to health. Furniture and other materials should be moved so that the person in the convulsive attack will not strike himself in any manner. Biting of the tongue is usually prevented by putting a spoon or lead pencil between the teeth. Tight clothing should be removed. In the period of exhaustion which follows the attack the person is best permitted to lie absolutely quiet. No attempt should be made to hasten his awakening because an activity brought about too early may cause headaches and even persistence of the exhaustion.

In treatment of this condition nowadays the doctor plans not only for the utmost in hygiene and improvement of the diet but also avoidance of fatigue which seems to lower resistance and increase the irritability.

Epileptics do best where they are not faced by exciting and irritating contacts but where life is even and smooth. They should not be exposed to extremes of heat and cold, irritating light effects, prolonged heat cycles, thunderstorms and similar atmospheric conditions. The occupations which they choose should not be those which demand great physical labor, intense concentration, mental fatigue, emotional strain, worry or anxiety.

A great deal of research has been done on the diet and particularly the water balance of patients. Control of these factors seems to be important in lessening the number of attacks. Especially valuable are some of the new drugs which have been found to replace the bromides which used to be the only drug available for people with this condition.

A warning should be issued, however, against the people who prey upon the sick and who offer to sell "sure cures" for this condition. These cures consist invariably of strong esdative drugs, prescribed in a dosage and with a persistence far beyond that usually used by physicians familiar with treatment of such cases.

A properly regulated hygiene of life, particularly the water intake, the diet, the water intake and the rest, will do much to lessen the number of attacks in any case.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1937 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The whacks which this recessing congress has been giving the presidential program may have sounded impersonal—but Mr. Roosevelt knows there was a penetrating tack in the barrel of the political warnings to Mr. Roosevelt—John L. Lewis.

Consequently the leaders, their work done, settled back before the vote with the assurance the outcome was in the bag. Shortly before the vote Whip Boland offered to bet $100 that he had the votes. No one took him. The advance polls showed he had them too, but apparently not all who were polled, told the truth.

Then the blow fell. The roll call showed 133 Democrats had resisted pressure, politics and the possibilities of personal advancement by opposing their own leaders. An unexpected majority of 18 votes was recorded in favor of sidetracking a labor bill.

Obviously this was no ordinary rebellion. Many explanations have been offered for it, but the fundamental explanation is the one that was a revolt of the small southern towns and western farm states against the large industrial cities and the C. I. O. dominated manufacturing areas. It was a revolt of the great middle class. Farm class and conservative class against labor class legislation for the first time in the new deal.

The defeat was no less direct to the A. F. L. and Mr. Green than to the C. I. O. and Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Lewis. A. F. L. substitute for the bill was sharply rejected. Furthermore Mr. Green's own ranks broke against him. Such well recognized A. F. L. supporters as Rep. Reuben Wood, president of the Missouri State Federation of Labor, Griswold of Indiana, Dockweiler of California, Fitzgerald of Connecticut and Healey of Massachusetts, voted against Green and in favor of the bill.

What it all means is, the new deal steam roller has burned out its bearings and is stalled.

It does not mean Mr. Roosevelt's whole program will be broken up that anything he proposes in the future will be defeated. But it does mean he will have to be more careful, that he will have to play for congressional support more in the formulation of his programs. His old system of picking out a popular class issue and pushing it through congress by efficient machine tactics will work no longer. The old charm method has failed. The spell is over.

And the most peculiar part of it is, the opposition has not yet publicly identified itself. Some public credit is being given McKeenleys of Tennessee but he was only one of a large group including Dies of Texas, Warren of North Carolina, Lamneck of Ohio—and others.

be taught that, though monopoly control of prices and production can suspend the law of supply and demand, it can never get around the law of diminishing returns. They need to be persuaded that a business depression in a price economy cannot be cured by discharging workers and reducing individual and national purchasing power.

They need to be told—very gently—that even American history shows that the human budget must be balanced before any other budget, and that there is a long-standing political tradition here, in respect to business enterprise, stemming from Tom Paine, Thomas Jefferson, Andy Jackson, Abe Lincoln and William Jennings Bryan right down to Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Deal.

This particular tradition has always maintained that, in a land of abundance, it is difficult to justify or defend any business system under which able, hard-working men and women are turned out to look for jobs, property or income, by business managers who find it impossible to "give away" $10,000,000 in a single lump for propaganda purposes which bear no clear relation to the public welfare.

The Alfred P. Sloan Foundation's first job will be, not to instruct the public in the interest of General Motors but to instruct General Motors in the interest of the public and of sound economics generally.

I doubt that it will cost $10,000,000 to do so, but it is worth trying.

MAKES CHASE DIFFICULT

LORAIN, O. (UP)—A gunman interrupted Miss Flora Sabiers' and Richard De Long's walk in the woods, robbed them of $100 and took their shoes so "you won't be able to follow me soon."
